End Comes Peacefully.

Late last night attending physicians admitted that they held little hope for his recovery.

The end came peacefully.

Under the will which Cardinal Bonzano made last Thursday, his entire estate goes to charity.

Clergyman Who Performed Companionate Marriage Gives Ideas On Conditions

Declares He Does Not Believe That Idea Is Dangerous Or Menacing

CITES MARRIAGE CONDITIONS IN U. S.

Declares Marriage Must Be Adapted To New Ideas Of Day

(International News Service)
Editor's Note—The Roselle-Haldeman-Julius "companionate" marriage at Girard, Kan., last Tuesday has brought condemnation and commendation—mostly the former—from the clergy throughout the country. The Rev. L. M. Birkhead, Unitarian minister, is the center of attack for his part in officiating at the wedding and for his sanction of such unions among the youth of today. Reverend Birkhead answers his critics in the following article.

By REV. L. M. BIRKHEAD
Minister, All Souls Unitarian Church
Written Expressly For International News Service

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 26.—I want to see marriage made a more civilized institution, therefore, I am in favor of the companionate marriage. I do not believe that the companionate marriage is dangerous or menacing. I think rather that it will help save the institution of marriage which is now threatened.

To accuse me of "helping shake the very foundation of religious and social life" is ridiculous. Modern science, contemporary industrialism, education, democracy, recent scholarship, and many other forces are rocking the very foundation of our institutions, among them, marriage.

Marriage must be adapted to the new day. Marriage ceremonies must be made more intelligent. To compel candidates for matrimony to make so many foolish promises is contemptible. To ask the groom to "endow" the bride with "worldly goods" is foolish. The average groom hasn't any worldly goods.

Birth Control.

A widespread knowledge of scientific measures for birth control is one of the most urgent needs of our day. Certainly the preachers who are denouncing the companionate marriage are practicing birth control. Where are the large preachers' families of other days? Why should a knowledge of birth control be confined to the preachers and the upper classes of our citizens? Our anti-birth control laws are nothing less than criminal.

Divorce ought to be made easier and should be by mutual consent, it really is usually by mutual consent now but on account of our foolish laws divorce can only be obtained by perjury, or defaming the character of the husband or the wife, or some other hypocritical method. The moral atmosphere would be very much cleared if we were to make it possible to obtain a divorce without offending one's conscience or losing one's self-respect.

Companionate Marriage.

There is no one infallible and orthodox form of marriage. The companionate marriage is already quite common. Most of us preachers frequently perform ceremonies for what might be called companionate marriages. It is understood that many of the young people whom we marry are not to have children, at least for a few years, and that they are to continue their education or go on with their work, and that the parents of each lend economic assistance. This means that the so-called companionate marriage is now widely practiced.

The idea of the most serious consideration. Surely the institutions of marriage is not perfect. What form of marriage is perfect? Is the institution so perfect that it cannot be improved? If it is such divinely perfect institution, why the howling divorces? I am sure that the bawling of the preachers and moralists will not help to solve the problem of marriage and divorce. There is no need to be terribly frightened at the word "companionate."

I plead that the suggestion of the companionate marriage be given scientific consideration.

Pleas Entered And Prisoners Are Sentenced

Frederick Newton, For Automobile Theft, Is Sent To Huntington

ONE MAN IS GIVEN 2 YEARS TO WORKS

Several Paroles Are Granted Upon Payment Of Fines And Costs

Frederick Newton, aged 18, wearing the uniform of a United States soldier, entered a plea of nolle contendere before Judges R. L. Hildebrand and James A. Chambers in Lawrence county court, this morning to a charge of stealing the automobile of John Crowl. It developed during the questioning of Newton that this was the fourth automobile that he had stolen. One of the thefts was in Beaver county, where he was paroled. On a former occasion Judge Hildebrand had sent him to the George Junior Republic at Grove City, hoping that he might be reformed. The next day after being committed to the home, it was claimed that he had stolen a car from the streets of Grove City, driving it to New Castle. Judge Hildebrand told Newton that he did not seem to appreciate what the court had done for him in trying to make a man out of him. He was sent to the Huntington Industrial Reform school. In answer to questions regarding his military career he said that he had joined the army at Baltimore and had got a leave of absence. He admitted that he has now been classed as a deserter.

Leader Of Jail Revolt Is Known; Probe Is Opened

Tony Brown, Gangster, Accused Of Responsibility For Folsom Jail Riot

RIOTERS FACE DEATH SENTENCE

Ringleaders In Thanksgiving Day Break Silent Before Investigators

(International News Service)
FOLSOM STATE PRISON, Cal. Nov. 26.—With the toll of dead remaining at 11, nine convicts and two guards, three other convicts near death from wounds, and 24 others, including prisoners, guards and prison officials seriously but not dangerously wounded, prison authorities today prepared to fix responsibility for the bloody Thanksgiving day prison riot here.

Six convicts, a "lifer" and a killer, three robbers, a burglar and a forger—six men who are designated as "hard" even by the other prison inmates—have been singled out as ringleaders of the attempted prison break. They were facing the gallows today for their part in the rioting.

Tony Brown, gangster, is thought to have been the leading factor in the revolt. It was Brown, according to prison officials, who wielded the revolver and who moved among the other convicts, urging and threatening when some of the more timid wished to capitulate.

Brown Leader.

Named with Brown as ringleaders are Walter E. Burke, a theater bandit; Roy E. Stokes, burglar; James Gleason, robber; Albert A. Stewart, forger; and James H. Gregg, murderer.

One by one the ringleaders were brought before Warden Court Smith. All of them were evasive except Brown. He answered questions freely, and apparently has accepted responsibility as the head of the revolt. He confessed, according to Warden Smith, to accidentally killing a fellow convict and according to Warden Smith to shooting Walter Neil, a turnkey.

Prison officials believe that but 20 per cent of the prisoners were in sympathy with the revolt. The others were intimidated by the determined pressure of the minority.

While prisoners were restoring order to the interior of the buildings wrecked by the rioting, the national guard units which had been called out in anticipation of storming tactics, had returned to their homes. Tanks, machine guns and other implements of warfare, most of which were never used, have been removed from their positions outside the prison walls and the scene of the bloody uprising today was gradually returning to normal.

This equipment, manned by at least 1,000 men, was to have been used in attacking the prisoners yesterday. The surrender of the convicts, however, precluded such a move.

Dense Fog In London Causes Many Mishaps

Two Firemen Injured In Crash Of Trucks; Channel Shipping Suffers

LONDON, Nov. 26.—"Two firemen were injured, many traffic collisions occurred, and pedestrians groped their way about today when another dense fog settled over London.

The mist was white, different from the traditional yellow of the "London variety," and was so dense that it even penetrated to the suburbs.

The two firemen were injured when two fire engines crashed on their way to a fire in the Enfield district. All traffic was forced to slow down to a walking pace and suburban trains were running hours behind their schedules.

The fog was so heavy that it was impossible in many sections of the city to see across the street.

Channel shipping also suffered from the fog. Several collisions were reported, among them being one between the American steamer, Point View, and the French vessel, Flammant, off East Goodwins.

The Flammant was proceeding slowly to Dover with a damaged stern.

Lady Godiva Appears At Chicago Arts Ball; Beautiful Wax Figure

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—Twenty-five hundred Chicagoans who last night attended the Arts ball to meet that much maligned horse woman—Lady Godiva—grinned sheepishly today when asked by less fortunate citizens for a review of the shocking details.

Lady Godiva was there, all right, she appeared promptly at 12:55 in a gold frame 10 by 12 feet, said to have cost $10,000. It made a lovely costume but nobody noticed it.

The crowd was engrossed with Lady Godiva herself. They mistook her for Venus until it was observed she had two arms.

These were crossed in a statue-like pose. She kept her face turned away—over her left shoulder.

The crowd waited respectfully for the lady to overcome her embarrassment. Finally becoming impatient, "someone called 'Speech! Speech!'"

Stronger lights were suddenly switched on and Lady Godiva stood revealed—a figure of wax.

The ball was one of the most gala affairs ever staged in Chicago, outdoing the same gorgeous event of past years. It brought together a cosmopolitan crowd—the bluest in the blue book and the unknown. Those of high and low degree—but everybody in costume.

COURTHOUSE, CINCINNATI, Nov. 26.—The state at 11:23 this morning rested its case against George Remus, "king of the bootleggers", who is on trial for the murder of his wife Imogene. The state had placed 33 witnesses on the stand.

Report Remus Sane

The state completed its case shortly after three alienists, appointed by the court weeks ago to study the mental condition of Remus, filed their report, which stated that the defendant is now sane and was sane on the morning of October 6 last, when he shot and killed his wife.

Had the alienists reported that Remus was insane Judge Chester P. Shook said he would have been forced to ask Remus to withdraw from the case as his own lawyer.

WILL TESTIFY AS TO JEOPARDY

Daughter Of George Remus By First Wife Remains Loyal To Father

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent
CINCINNATI, Ohio, Nov. 26.—George Remus, branded a cold blooded slayer of his wife, Imogene, by her pretty dark eyed daughter, Ruth, will call upon his own daughter, Ramola Remus, to take the witness stand next week to counteract the effect Ruth's testimony may have had on the jury.

This announcement was made today by Charles B. Elston, counsel for defense. She will be one of ninety or more witnesses who will try to save Remus, the man who gave up a successful practice in Chicago to run up millions as the "bootleg king" of America, from the electric chair.

Ramola is 24, four years older than Ruth, and equally as attractive but of a different type. Ruth, dark skinned, brown eyes and black hair, resembles her dead mother, Ramola, daughter of Remus by his first wife, who divorced him when he fell in love with the woman he shot and killed, is light skinned, titan haired and has large blue eyes shaded by heavy lashes.

Darlington Is Self-Supporting Community Of 375

Brickyards And Coal Mines Give Employment To More Men Than Reside In The Borough

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Nov. 26.—The little hamlet of Darlington set in between the hills near the state line of Ohio, is unique in that it is self supporting and what is more furnishes work for more than its working population, with its brick yards and mines. Coal mining and the manufacture of brick complete the industries of this town, in which over three hundred men are employed. The village boasts of 370 people and the three brick yards there employ among their nearly two hundred and fifty men.

The three brick manufacturers are Pisk & company, the Darlington Brick & Mining company, and the Alliance Brick company. The Darlington Brick & Mining company, which employs about eighty men, is closed temporarily at this time but the other two are working on about their regular schedule.

Many small coal mines are scattered about Darlington from which a good grade of coal is turned out each day. The White Clay mine alone turns out about twelve railroad cars of coal each day, which represents 600 tons of coal for the day's work.

Several smaller mines contribute to the coal supply of this section in smaller quantities, and furnish for miles around haul their winter's supply from these mines throughout the winter as needed.

One of the oldest buildings in Darlington is the railroad station. The railroad for many years was the only connecting link with the rest of the world, running from New Galilee through Darlington to Lisbon, Ohio. Two lines of buses now furnish rapid transportation service in and out of the town, the improved state road making this possible.

Before Duffas could be released from the machine his clothing from the waist down was burned off. The car was burned to a wreck. Duffas was removed to the Butler hospital where his burns were attended to.

Keller, who sustained a broken rib, says that an unidentified driver forced his auto, driven by Duffas, from the highway. The driver failed to stop after the accident. Duffas, in order to avoid a crash drove his car up a bank and it overturned. Highway patrolmen of Butler investigated the case.

DEMOCRATIC "HARMONY"

THE plans for a Democratic harmony dinner to be held in the national capital in January indicate that Clem Shaver, chairman of the Democratic national committee, is determined to have amity at any cost. Known contenders for the presidential nomination will be invited to attend but will not be placed at the speakers' table. The talking will be done by a few leaders capable of delivering solid Jeffersonian oratory without leaving the middle of the road.

Under the rules of the projected dinner, which were drafted to prove how unified the Democratic party is, the speakers can hardly refer to leaders more recent than Cleveland without fear of creating internal discord, and political speeches without reference to living personalities may be soporific rather than stimulating. What price harmony if its chief end is inertia?

To name the next president the Democratic party must not only unite its own tug-of-war factions, but win over for its nominee the support of a considerable percentage of Republican and independent voters. The party must smother all issues to promote party harmony, but must trot out the same issues if it would lure into the Democratic fold voters from outside the party.

Mere harmony will give the Republicans victory. Mere harmony will give the Democrats a beating. A nice, gentlemanly convention, such as all good Democrats dream about, will do them no good whatever.

The whole art of Republican politics is to persuade a normal Republican majority to stick together. The art of Democratic politics is to persuade the factions which normally split the Democratic minority to come together and to persuade some hundreds of thousands of non-Democrats to come with them. The Democratic art would be the greater if oftener successful.

BOORS ALL IT WOULD SEEM

REASONING being can usually find answers to his own questions, but there is one that stumps all. Why is it that motorists forget all etiquette and the rudiments of courtesy when they get behind a steering wheel?

It is not polite to swear at the dining table if the butter isn't passed the instant it is asked for. And almost everybody employs the polite "Pardon me" in pedestrian jams and crowded elevator. But get the same people in the driver's seat and there is loud honking and a cussword or two if the car ahead stops too suddenly or fails to start soon enough.

Seldom does one meet a driver on the open highway who will give an inch to the other fellow and surrender his right-of-way to convenience other cars. It is everybody for himself and curses upon the other fellow even though his faults and transgressions are your own.

Motorists spurn outdoor corners without regard for the safety and hearts of others; cars cross and halt suddenly in front of others without giving warning, and, instead of taking accidents calmly and assuming one's fair share of the blame, drivers and passengers strive to see which can out-yell and out-cuss the other. Why is politeness left behind or forgotten by most drivers the minute they step into their car?

Once an individual expert in the art of cussing was said to "swear like a trooper." "He swears like a traffic policeman" or "he swears like a motorist in a traffic jam" are similes in common usage. Did the motorist get his education from the traffic officer, or the traffic officer get his from the motorist?

THE URGE TO WRITE

ATTACKS upon the modern novel are drawing the publishers into the defense of themselves and their books and authors. The most interesting point in the defense seems to be the suggestion that even if the modern novel—as published—is bad, it is by no means as bad as it might be. In support of this claim publishers point to the fact that they sometimes turn down a hundred full-length novels in manuscript in a day and publish about one out of a hundred submitted to them.

That should certainly dispose of the suspicion, harbored by some, that publishers leap at anything that looks like a novel, but it will hardly dispose of the theory, rather widely held among authors of rejected novels that they always turn down the poor ones.

But this last particular aspect of the literary situation is much less terrifying than the implication that one publisher out of many can still receive full-length novels of any sort at a rate which makes it possible to decline them by the hundred every weeping autumn morning. What an urge to express oneself is there represented, what a fearful—and more or less wasted—application of gray matter to blank paper!

Fairly well established writers and all publishers are constantly complaining that people are not buying enough books. How can individuals buy books when they are all so busy writing them? The trouble is not that people are buying few books, but that few people are buying books.

There is nothing alarming, however, in this increase in the literary population. It is but a by-product of the rapid multiplication of book readers this country has witnessed in the last two decades. The infant's urge is to talk, the child's to read and the adult's to write.

Most men who think they are proud of their reason are just proud of their stubbornness.

Doubters are vexed at believers for the same reason that a man without a cake is vexed at a man who has one.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 4:35. Sun rises tomorrow 7:01.

This one was sent in from the North Hill: "Man is made of dust—women stir them up, and then settle them."

The old-fashioned New Castle lady who used to sing "Darling, I am growing old, silver threads among the gold," now invades a beauty parlor and tries to look like sweet sixteen.

Two young women graduates of the University of West Virginia have adopted rat killing as a profession. They say there are two rats for every human in this country and it costs $1.82 annually to feed each rat. These ladies are not even afraid of a rat, so the mice had better look out.

A lot of those chaps who go out hunting often return convinced that there is a lot of room around a rabbit.

At Lancaster, Pa., there is a sign near the railroad station which sounds of a scornful attitude of the citizens of that city. It reads "Do Not Judge Our City by our railroad station." And they only have one of that kind in that city apparently.

We met a chap named Dollar the other day and his better half was also with him.

After due observation we note with sorrow that the smoking of cigarettes is increasing at an alarming extent in this city in public. We mean among the women folks of course. There are several things a woman is not expected to do and one of them is smoking.

There are many women who command large salaries and still do not earn them. The husband earns the dough.

It is quite true that a man cannot hide behind a woman's skirts any more, but it is quite possible for a woman to hide behind some legs yet.

We like the way Mr. French, manager of the National Market in this city views things. He is always ready with his money to help any worthy enterprise of a civic nature in New Castle and his checks for hundreds of dollars are on record. His latest offer to furnish those who did not have meat on Thanksgiving day was just fine and we know those who were benefited feel grateful to him. Helping the other fellow is his motto and the Savior himself asks no more.

The policemen of New Castle will give their annual ball on the evening of December 26th. This has been a grand affair every year and hundreds of New Castle's best citizens not only buy tickets but attend the ball. It is buy tickets to have the acquaintance of every member of the New Castle police force and we have said it before and will say again, that no better police force exists anywhere. The men need encouragement as we all do, and being a policeman is not as easy as being a Sunday school teacher by a long shot. We will admit we have been a Sunday school teacher, and the nearest we have ever been to being a policeman was the director of police for a short time.

New Kind of Family Photos
Photographs are taken to preserve memories. The photographer of the future, predicts a Detroit camera artist, will be the man with a movie camera. At a children's party he will be asked to shoot 200 feet of the event; at a wedding 200 feet more, and so on. Then at any time any member of the family may have recalled to him the happy events of years that have gone. That sort of a photograph album will have to be kept in a fire-proof vault. Films have a habit of taking fire easily.

Deer are said to be so plentiful in Clearfield county that they have damaged thousands and thousands of trees. In the past three years 197,000 trees have been set out and the deer have destroyed 90 per cent of them.

The trees are more valuable than deer and this would be a good county to have open season on deer for a while.

It is reported that a wealthy man in Pittsburgh spent $2,000,000 on his daughter's wedding. That is putting the trees in a bad light. That is a lot of money in circulation and no one should object to that. Perhaps the next millionaire whose daughter marries will raise the ante.

Absolute Zero.
Financing Asia.
More Turkey for Soldiers.
Ericsson Remembered.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1927, By N. Y. American, Inc.)

Thanksgiving day has passed, but we shall still be thankful, especially for discoveries in science, on which our welfare depends.

Berlin scientists have created the coldest spot on earth, producing in laboratory experiments a temperature 459 degrees below zero.

Outside our atmosphere, in mysterious space separating solar systems from each other, there exists "absolute zero." On our Fahrenheit thermometers, that would be 461 degrees below zero, space without heat.

At such a temperature the properties of matter change. Metals lose resistance to electricity and become super-conductors. A thin thread of mercury will carry enough electricity to light several hundred lamps.

Helium, the gas used in our dirigibles, becomes liquid a few degrees above absolute zero. In that terrible cold molecules in matter lose their motion, which may account for their greater electric conductivity.

Most important to science is the fact that life itself is not destroyed at that low temperature. Seeds of barley, wheat, mustard and other plants, exposed to a temperature just above absolute zero did not lose their germinating power. Consequently, life on this planet—after it cooled off, might have been started by life germs from other planets, hurled off into space, setting on our oceans, and by evolution, producing all life from microbes to men.

That would make it unnecessary for life to be created miraculously on all the billions of planets in space, and would save a great deal of trouble.

Consider, also, that the sun's heat comes through 93,000,000 miles of ether at absolute zero, to warm our planet. The sun's rays become heat only when they strike the resistance of our atmosphere, just as the electric current, coming in winter over a cold copper wire, becomes heat when it strikes the resistance of the electric stove.

First abstract science, then useful application. Practical men may find a way to create in metals, apart from any absolute zero temperature, conditions similar to those that absolute zero creates. That would make possible transportation of electric current without cost or loss, and solve the problem of cheap power.

Americans are lending money abroad in billions of dollars without asking what will be done with the money, or how its use may affect America.

Chinese business men protest against proposed American loans to the South Manchurian railway. "That railroad," say the Chinese, "is an agency for Japanese imperialism, penetration into China, a Japanese imperialistic political and economic instrument, NOT a commercial undertaking."

We might feel foolish, 50 years hence, discovering that we had financed unification of Asia for Japan. Think hard.

The American soldier had his Thanksgiving Day turkey allowance increased Thursday from one pound to one pound and three-quarters for each man, by order of President Coolidge.

The president had 100 pounds of fine turkeys sent him by friends, and probably ate three ounces, not choosing to overload his stomach.

The Engineers' club in New York celebrated, with Thanksgiving, the anniversary of John Ericsson's landing in America from Denmark.

Ericsson, you remember, invented and built the Monitor, at first ridiculed as a "cheese box."

That cheese box destroyed the Merrimack, turning the tide of the Civil war.

If another Ericsson should come, he would be asked "have you not read our immigration laws? Don't you know we need no Europeans?"

No war is more horrible than a religious war, as illustrated now in Mexico.

Four men, one a priest, were executed by shooting on Wednesday, following alleged confessions by all four that they had plotted to murder Obregon, candidate for president.

The Catholic priest, the Rev. Miguel Agustin Projuarez, died first, at his own request, setting an example of courage to the others. Asked if he had any last request, he replied: "I beg you to let me pray." He knelt, praying, with a crucifix held before him, and then, standing with his face to the firing squad, he was shot as he made the sign of the cross. A sergeant gave him the "coup de grace," sending a pistol bullet into his temple.

THE PRIZE BEAUTY

One prize beauty is suing her husband for divorce. It seems that having a husband interfered with her getting the prize.

This is about the sort of crop we can expect from a prize-beauty movement. Why a prize beauty, anyhow? If you are beautiful you are beautiful and that is no fault of yours. God gave you the charm and why should you boast of it as something in which you had a part yourself?

Much of the good work in this world is done by the homely girls. Homely girls make the best wives. Many a man in selecting a mate steers shy of a beauty because he does not care to have so much competition.

Why not have a competition over something that amounts to something? Over the rapist typist, the most successful business woman, the best housekeeper, the woman who has the most healthy children or something like that.

A prize might also be given, suggests one correspondent, to the most afflicted person and experts be called on to testify about crippled legs or deafness. This at least would call attention to a person's needs and probably bring relief.

The prize beauty business seems to be after all just an appeal to vanity. As a rule, the prize beauties do not score very heavily in this world's achievements.

A beautiful face or figure is not even the greatest advantage to a man, if that is what one had in mind, experts say, that neither Cleopatra, Anastasia nor Nino de l'Enclos, who were some charmers, were particularly endowed with feminine pulchritude.

The fact is that a beautiful spirit can enliven and make to shine a homely face. Besides this a beautiful spirit is easier to live within the long run than a beautiful face which conceals an ugly spirit.

WHAT APPEARS TO BE—

Courage is oftentimes ignorance of danger.
Happiness is often a thin mask for trouble.
Cleverness is frequently moral recklessness.
Wisdom is sometimes merely discreet silence.
Virtue is sometimes a lack of temptation.
Conviction is oftentimes mere stubbornness.
Fame is too often mere notoriety.

THAT BALL LIGHTNING.
Mrs. Alice K. Lowell 4246 Greenwood place, Kansas City, Mo., writes a very interesting letter replying to my recent quest for actual experiences of persons who have seen ball lightning. She saw ball lightning in Illinois when she was ten years old. It was during a thunder storm, when she had stepped to the open door to draw in a chair. She describes the ball as apparently about ten or twelve inches in diameter and says it seemed poised two or three feet above the step as if ready to enter the house. She continues:

"Suddenly the ball raised and shot over the fence in a diagonal direction rather slowly. Then there was a terrific crash like an explosion. Mother saw my frightened face and began to inquire the cause before the crash came."

"My parents said the draft through the house had attracted the lightning and my standing in the partly opened door had stopped the draft and the lightning but I see it in the hand of Providence as we had just had family prayers."

"At that time my mother told of a shoemaker she had known who was mending shoes during a storm. A ball of lightning came down the chimney, out of the fireplace, rolled so close to the shoemaker that he could have touched it, raised and went through the window, where it

LET PESSIMISTS BEWARE.

There are pessimists who say concerning the last quarter's report of the United States Steel Corporation that it was not a very good showing, and these pessimists have been joyfully going forth of Steel Common in the market. Such is the tendency of so many thoughtless persons. There always stands the famous remark of the elder Morgan, "don't go short on America" but there is also another thing to consider.

The earnings of the Steel Corporation for the third quarter of 1927 was more than thirty million dollars, a sum sufficient to cover all the fixed charges, including dividends, with a balance to be carried into the surplus of more than three million dollars. These earnings were made on a very low price of steel as low as they have been in six years, and shipments of so many thousands of tons. There always stands the famous remark of the elder Morgan, "don't go short on America" but there is also another thing to consider.

The Steel Corporation has diversified its products, thanks to Judge Gary, which has caused its earnings to run much more uniformly than when the Corporation was dependent upon the manufacture of steel entirely, for its revenue. Ten year ago sixty five per cent. operation could have meant a big deficit after a five per cent. common stock dividend upon the old capitalization. The greatest reason, however, for the admirable showing in the third quarter can be found in the hundreds of millions of dollars that have been put back into the property year after year, for the betterment of the corporation plants, for better machinery, for better operation of machinery, and for the cutting down materially of cost prices. A great railroad and steamship system has been developed in the last twenty six years, to say nothing of the rest. Big drops in production now does not mean deficits, and smaller dividends.

The steel industry as a whole must now disregard Andrew Carnegie's famous epigram: "A steel man is either a prince or a pauper."

THE FAIRIES FIGHT A BAD HABIT

Once there was a little girl who bit her finger nails.
And she was very, very fond of hearing fairy tales.
And every night she'd climb upon her doting daddy's knee
As eager for a story as a little child could be.
But one night when he started in, his voice went strangely dumb.
"It isn't any use," he said, "the words refuse to come."

"Go on, go," she begged of him. "I can't," her daddy said.
"The fairies have been here and swept the stories from my head."

"They came last night and threatened me they'd take them all away And leave me here with you at night without a word to say. It is the law in fairyland that pretty fairy tales Shall not be told to little girls who bite their finger nails."

"The fairy queen herself was here, with all her princes gay. They gathered round me one and all in such an angry way. I wondered what the trouble was. 'We've come!' the queen exclaimed. 'To tell you, you've a little girl who ought to be ashamed. We love her very, very much, we've danced along her trails. But we can't play with little girls who bite their finger nails.'"

"And then, she said, 'we'll take away the stories that you tell. You'll never get another word until her nails are well.' And that is what they've done, I'm sure. And oh, it seems too bad. They've taken every pretty little fairy tale I had. But if tomorrow never once you find them, you should bite. Perhaps one story I shall have to tell to you at night."

broken pane of glass. The ball exploded outside the house. In that case the ball moved slowly too.

"In a catalog book I had when a girl it was called globular lightning and there was a picture of a ship at sea in a storm with several lightning balls playing about it."

This veracious account interests me greatly. The behavior of the two lightning balls described in this letter is strangely similar to the actions of one of my own mother saw of which I spoke in the previous article. In the case of the ball which moved slowly and to move upward as well as downward. Now that I am reminded of the explosion I recall that my mother also spoke of a loud cracking explosion when the ball disappeared. There can hardly be a natural phenomena more weird or more disconcerting to the astonished beholder. A good, healthy tornado seen at close range is probably just as terrifying. I have seen six of them in my life and I have never heard of one before seeing it often adds to the terror of the phenomenon. I'd be glad to have further testimony from eye-witnesses on this question of ball lightning, how it acts and how badly it frightens the witness.

Fruit Growers Will Exhibit In January

County Agent Urges Apple Growers To Make Ready For State Wide Show

Lawrence county fruit growers should be selecting their finest apples for exhibition at the State Farm Products Show in Harrisburg in January, states County Agent H. R. McCulloch. A review of the premium list reveals many attractive reasons for showing at the capital city exhibition.

This year for the first time, a beautiful loving cup will be awarded the exhibitor scoring the greatest number of points. It is called the Gabriel Heister cup in honor of one of Pennsylvania's most outstanding horticulturists, who was president of the State Horticultural association from 1905 until 1912.

Another new feature to be introduced this year will be a special fancy display to be called class 14. Ten or 15 apples of the Delicious, Grimes, Stayman or McIntosh varieties are to be made up into a fancy basket. The fruit of course must be of the best. In judging, the fruit will be rated 90 per cent, and the container 10 per cent.

This class grows out of the need to make fruit attractive, whether it be in a basket on the living room table or displayed in a show window of a store. The baskets will remain the property of the exhibitors, but the fruit will be sold by the state show committee.

Montreal Police Arrest Suspect In Payroll Robbery

Stanley Bodziakowski Alleged Jaworski Accomplice Under Arrest

(International News Service) DETROIT, Nov. 26.—Stanley Bodziakowski, known here as Bodjek, is under arrest in Montreal today as a fugitive member of the Paul Jaworski gang, wanted in Pittsburgh for a $104,000 payroll robbery last March, during which a guard was killed.

He was arrested on a tip to Canadian authorities furnished by Detroit police who had been trailing him for several weeks. He left this city two weeks ago, hid in several down river towns, and then crossed to Canada. He has a wife and child living here.

Bodziakowski was identified positively as Jaworski's accomplice by the Pittsburgh farmer on whose land the loot from the robbery was buried. Until his arrest, he has not appeared in published reports as a principal.

Paul Jaworski, first to be arrested, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to be executed. He escaped and has been sought throughout the nation, and especially in Detroit, by Pennsylvania police. His escape was aided by his brother Sam, who was arrested here later and taken back to Pittsburgh.

Must Obey Parking Rules At Postoffice

The police department has prohibited parking on the north side of North street opposite the postoffice and now has placed a sign on the south side of the street in front of the postoffice requesting people not to stop their cars there. Yet the public continues to park in the prohibited territory opposite and cars still stop in front of the office while their occupants and drivers are in the office posting letters or packages.

Postmaster Edwin W. Crawford makes a special request that patrons of the postoffice and the public observe these regulations especially during the holiday season. Many patrons of the office stop their cars in front of the postoffice and think it will only take a minute to mail a package, but delay often happens at the package window at this season 15 or 20 minutes may be spent before one can get back to the car.

In the meantime traffic forced to single file may become inconvenient. Suitable parking places for a half hour or more can be found within a block of the postoffice at almost any time of day and patrons are requested to park there while package are taken to the office.

The postoffice department has also been frequently bothered by other than employees of the department using the drives and parking on the property of the office. This space is reserved for cars of the department such as trucks and the cars of rural mail carriers and other employees.

Since the property is federal property the procedure is to notify the treasury department which will refer the matter to the federal court. Any one thus involved would likely need a trip to Pittsburgh or Philadelphia to pay their fine.

The only unusual stunt in the spotlight now consists in repairing political fences while sitting astride one.

There are people who never lose an opportunity to enjoy being miserable.

Isaiah The Evangelical Prophet

Brass Tacks On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Who shall ascend into the hill of the Lord? or who shall stand in His holy place? He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart.

PSALM 24: 3, 4

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

With our next four lessons to be taken from the prophesy of Isaiah, a word in general by way of introduction about this greatest of all the prophets will not be amiss.

The Gist of Isaiah's Message
"Isaiah was a statesman as well as a prophet. He exercised his ministry during the reigns of Kings Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, Hezekiah and Manasseh. He was probably killed by Manasseh about the year 697 B. C., after a ministry of about 75 years."

"The Book of Isaiah divides naturally into two sections, chapters 1 to 39 (as many as there are books in the Old Testament) breathing the Old Testament spirit of warning and judgment; and, chapters 40 to 66 (as many as there are books in the New Testament) breathing the New Testament spirit of grace and peace."

"Conditions in Judah in Isaiah's day were a sad reflection upon God's people, yet strangely familiar to modern conditions about us today. The rich ground down the faces of the poor; their women were haughty and concerned chiefly with their false adornments; religion had become an empty form devoid of spirit; the kings depended upon their arm of flesh and despised the arm of Jehovah, their true defense. Isaiah saw Jehovah as their real ruler 'sitting on a throne high and lifted up,' but he failed to make either king or people believe his report. Even his prophesy of the Assyrian captivity of the northern kingdom of Israel and its sad fulfillment in his time made little impression upon his people of Judah who heard his warning."

"Isaiah calls the roll of all the surrounding nations and pronounces their doom and the reasons therefore, and still the people refuse to heed his warnings, but rush on to their own destruction with a pace slackened only slightly by the reforms of the good King Hezekiah whose faithfulness was rewarded by Jehovah's intervention against the hosts of the Assyrian invader Sennacherib."

"In the second section of the book Isaiah gives us the clearest picture of the Messiah as the 'Servant of Jehovah' to be found outside of the New Testament. The heart of this section is the wonderful 53rd chapter, which might well be called 'the gospel according to Isaiah,' with its picture of our Saviour as 'despised and rejected of men, a man of sorrows and acquainted with grief, bearing our griefs and carrying our sorrows, wounded for our transgressions and bruised for our iniquities.'" (Quoted from "The Gist of the Bible Book by Book" by Dr. A. E. Bell, Toledo, O.)

Empty Formality Denounced
This first of our series of lessons in Isaiah is a severe denunciation of that religion which is a mere "going-through-the-motions."

Genuine Repentance Demanded
He demanded genuine repentance as he cried: "Wash you, make you clean; put away the evil of your doings from before mine eyes; cease to do evil; learn to do well."

The International Uniform Sunday School lesson for November 27 is Isaiah 1:1-20, the subject being "Isaiah Teaches True Worship," and the golden text, Psalm 24:3-4, "who shall ascend into the hill of Jehovah? And who shall stand in his holy place? He that hath clean hands and a pure heart."

Rev. Pearson To Again Preach On Wright's Novel

Because of the interest manifested last Sunday, especially last Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock service in Trinity church, when the Rector, the Rev. Philip C. Pearson, by request, dealt with Harold Bell Wright's, "God and the Groceryman," it will be the basis again next Sunday at 11 a. m. of a sermon on "Manhood, the Nation, Christianity."

This subject will be especially appropriate to the occasion, which is the Tenth Annual Nation-Wide Corporate Communion of the Men and Boys of the church, being the first day of a new Christian Year. The First Sunday in Advent.

PETER'S ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

DOUBTING MR. RATTLES' SENSE OF HONOR
The Lizard's tail!" hissed Mr. Rattler. "A Two-Legs honored among Animals! Horrors, what a dreadful thing I almost did! To think that I struck at you—tried to drive you out of the briar patch—when I should have been proud that you condescended to visit my humble home!"

"What? Do you live here?" asked Peter, peering nervously at him. "I shouldn't like to get too near your wife before she found out what a charm I carry. She might take me for someone who had no business near her doorstep and attack me, just the same as you did."

Mr. Rattler squirmed. "Please don't mention that again, I beg of you," hissed he. "I am much ashamed of my actions. Any Two-Legs or Four-Legs who carries a Lizard's tail is bound to have the friendship and protection of all who walk or fly or crawl. If I had my wits about me I should have sensed it. Usually I am wise, but today I was very stupid. How terribly I should have felt if I had pierced you with my fangs! To be sure, the magic of your charm might have protected you, but if I had done such an unfriendly thing I shouldn't have been able to rear my head again. I am sure. Dear, dear, dear! Even we Serpents have our sense of honor, you know. To think of my hurling myself at a friend!"

Much displeased with himself, Mr. Rattler sadly swayed his head. But for all the fellow looked so repentant, Peter couldn't quite bring himself to believe all the Serpent said. He thought of something he had once heard.

"A Serpent with a sense of honor!" exclaimed he. "How strange! Why, I have always thought quite the opposite was true!"

"Why, pray, tell?" demanded Mr. Rattler, and the Boy was sure he saw that tail quiver. But fearlessly Peter replied:

"Because you bite the hand that feeds you. At least, I have always heard so. And no one with a sense of honor would do that, would they? I leave it to you."

This was the assertion of Maj. Calvin H. Goddard, U. S. Army Ordnance Corps, and small firearms expert in the trial of Wenrich for the murder of Knapp last March.

Testimony of Major Goddard was secured only after the most strenuous objections for the defense, who argued late yesterday and throughout the morning session attempting to disqualify the army officer as a witness in the trial.

Major Goddard said that the bullet found in the body of Paul R. Fox, also killed when Knapp was murdered, had been shot from an old or rusty revolver, but that the third bullet, one that struck Fox on the wrist, had been fired from a new gun.

He testified that the bullet that killed Knapp also had been fired from the new gun. At this juncture the prosecution introduced the gun found in the Wenrich home as evidence. It was a new Colt 38 calibre special.

In an effort to forestall any move of the defense to prove that Wenrich shot in self defense, the prosecution placed Mrs. Knapp on the stand.
Mrs. Knapp identified the gun that had been found in the slain officer's clothing as that of her husband. Witnesses had testified the gun was out of its holster, but under the man's coat, and that it apparently had fallen out of the holster.

Enters Guilty Plea In Liquor Case

George Davis of Beaver Falls, arrested by Officers Lynch and Letera as he was delivering ten gallons of liquor to William Bostic in the vicinity of South Jefferson street, when taken before Alderman Walter T.
Hamilton to answer a charge of violating the Snyder act entered a plea of guilty. In default of $1,500 bail he is in the county jail pending sentence.

According to the police his capture is of more than usual interest, as he is a much sought man, both here and in Beaver Falls, although until this time able to get the best of the authorities. He had a brand new coupe which has been confiscated.
A gallon of liquor was found in it in addition to the goods he delivered to Bostic.

Bostic entered a plea of not guilty and will be given a hearing later.

Postal Card On Way 17 Years, Arrives

GLEN ROCK, Pa., Nov. 26.—It just took 17 years for a postal card to travel from Brazil to Glen Rock, according to a report from that place.
A card mailed on Nov. 10, 1910 from the U. S. S. Birmingham, cruising near South America, by Alfred Heyn to his sister arrived this week.
The card was received in good state of preservation. The card was cancelled in the York postoffice Nov. 15, 1927.

It bears a Benjamin Franklin one cent stamp.

Just where the card was delayed is not known.

Heyn was a member of the crew of the Birmingham at the time the card was sent. At present he is travelling in the South with an orchestra.

Orders Klan File Complaint Answer

Five Former Members Of Hooded Order To Oust Organization

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 26.—The Ku Klux Klan of Pennsylvania today was ordered by the federal court here to file an answer within 10 days to cross-complaint of five former Klan members who are seeking to oust the hooded order from the state.

The cross-complaint by the former Klansmen had alleged that the Klan in Pennsylvania was organized for the purposes of "creating riots and bloodshed" among other things
"contrary to the law of the United States". These allegations were supported by signed affidavits of former men and women members of the Klan.

Attorney Van A. Barrickman, one of the five who are seeking to oust the Klan, and who is acting as their counsel, was jubilant today and predicted that a trial would be forced within two weeks.

The biggest victory secured thus far by the defendants occurred on August 5 last, when Judge W. H. S.
Thompson, at the Erie session of court, overruled a motion of the Klan that the court had no jurisdiction in the case.

Those leading the fight with Barrickman against the Klan are Rev.
John F. Strayer, former legislator of Latrobe; Dr. Charles Oyer, Pittsburgh; Dr. Charles Hunter, Manor; and William C. Davis, Pittsburgh.

Dance Band, File Bankrupt
Petitions

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 26.—Fred Waring, leader of Waring's Pennsylvanians and his brother, Tom, pianist and tenor soloist, are bankrupt. The two famous musicians each filed voluntary petitions in bankruptcy in Federal court here today.

Fred Waring's petition stated his debts amounted to $28,939.00 and his assets $3,338.32, while Tom's petition declared liabilities of $5,086.37, and assets $120.

Most of the debts were incurred by the Waring Music Company, now defunct, which the brothers had backed. Fred, leader of the dance band, stated he owed the other members of his organization "back salary" to the amount of $3,670.30.

Driver Fined For Failing To Remove Glass From Street

BUTLER, Pa., Nov. 26.—Lester Zang, of 324 Hickory street was placed under arrest by the Butler police on a charge of breaking glass on the highway, after which he failed to stop and clean the glass up, according to police records at the Municipal building.

Zang was taken before Alderman
C. G. Phillips where he paid a fine of $10 and costs.

An automobile owned by L. H.
Humphrey, New Bethlehem, was parked near Main and North streets, when the automobile driver by Zang came along and hit the Humphrey car with its door, causing the glass of the Zang machine to be broken.

Zang is then alleged to have left the scene of the accident and was arrested by officers between Jefferson and Cunningham streets on Main street.

At the time of his arrest Zang claimed that he was hunting a policeman.

State Purchases Forest Lands

About 25,000 Acres In Addition
Are Being Negotiated
For

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 26.—The first forest land purchased by the State Forest commission under the $500,000 appropriation made available by the last legislature, was purchased from Robert R. Lewis of Coudersport.

The land is located in West Branch township, Potter county. This first purchase comprises $2,361 acres at $1.75 per acre, and 900 acres at $2.00 per acre. The commission also authorized representatives of the Department of Forests and Waters to negotiate for about 25,000 additional acres of forest land. Practically all the land considered by the State Forest commission is located within or adjoining present State Forest land.
Special consideration was also given to a number of tracts of forest land needed for administrative use.

At the November meeting of the State Forest commission Secretary Dorworth reviewed the finances of the department and reported on his inspection of the forest districts of the state. He announced that checks totaling $56,542.50 for payment of school, road, and county taxes on State Forest land are now being mailed to the townships and counties in which State Forest land is located.

The state pays a tax of two cents an acre for school purposes, two cents an acre for road purposes, and one cent an acre for county purposes. The largest amount paid out, goes to Potter county, which will receive a total of $7,939.20. Clinton county is second, which receives $7,217.05, and Lycoming county is third, which receives $5,236.55. The largest amount received by any individual township is Stewardson, Potter county. This township will receive $1,740.32, or $870.16 for school and road purposes respectively. The present total valuation of taxable property in Stewardson township is only $18,281, and the number of taxables 124. Last year the total amount of taxes collected by the township amounted to $581.64.
The tax paid by the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters on State land located in the township is $1,158.68 more than was collected from local sources.

The amount of money received as taxes in this township is an important item, for without it they could not support the public schools nor maintain their public roads. In addition to the taxes which make possible the maintenance of schools and roads, the majority of the inhabitants are employed on the State Forests, which insures them a livelihood.

Landru's Bones Must Leave The Cemetery Where He Is Buried

(International News Service)
PARIS, Nov. 26.—Desire Landru, the celebrated French Bluebeard, beheaded a few years ago for having killed his 12 wives, has no longer a last resting place for his bones. By special favor, the Landru family was granted a five-year concession in the cemetery of Gonnard. Their lease has not been renewed and orders were given to make away with the bones and little cross which marked the grave of the murderer.

But if he has no grave, he still has a home which is becoming a little museum, much-frequented by Americans and other tourists who visit Paris. Since the death of Landru, there has been no new tenant. An old guardian sits on the doorstep and receives anyone wishing to see the famous stove which consumed the 12 wives.

To Let Bids For Roads In Crawford Co.

MEADVILLE, Pa., Nov. 26.—Two Crawford county highway projects will be contracted for on the basis of bids opened by the State Highway Department at Harrisburg on December 16 one of which is of extreme interest to Mercer county.

Both routes are connecting links of important main routes and advertising at this time means their early construction in 1928. The roads are known as the Conneautville and Cochranon stretches.

The Conneautville project is to close the gap in the route between Harmonsbury and Conneautville, the southern end of which was constructed this past year. Remaining for construction is 15.192 feet only a little short of three miles and 18 feet in width.

The Cochranon road is 12,209 feet in length, about two and a quarter miles and is also 18 feet wide.
This piece connects with the improved road at the Mercer county line extending to Sandy Lake and Mercer.

Because of the importance of the two stretches the state is to bear the entire expense of hardsurfacing. A new bridge over French Creek at Cochranon replacing the present covered structure however is to be paid for entirely by the county.

Young Woman Is Arrested, Baby Left At Hospital

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 26.—Mildred Lacy, 22, of Connellsville was arrested here today on charges of abandoning a minor child and was held for court when arraigned before Magistrate A. D. Brandon in morals court.
The girl admitted the baby was hers.
The arrest was made after the girl slipped into the Allegheny General hospital, a 10-day-old baby in her arms.

"I found it under the Tenth street bridge," she told the authorities. Before she could be questioned she disappeared, leaving the baby behind.

Illegally Shot Rabbit Costly

ALLENTOWN, Nov. 26.—Lehigh county's most expensive rabbit was shot by Elmer Hollenbach of New Tripoli, for if he pays the fine imposed on him by Alderman W. L. Bower, it will cost him $200 a pound. And if he doesn't pay the fine, the law calls for the serving of a day for each dollar of fine imposed. That would mean that Hollenbach would serve a little more than 500 days in jail here, where he now is thinking things over.

He was accused by Game Warden
Ambrose Gerhart and Fish Warden
Joel Young of having shot and killed a 2½-pound rabbit from his automobile with the aid of the car's spotlights. Summarily convicted of the charge he was fined $500 and costs of prosecution.

"I admire the leaders of the electrical industry"

Says William Green, President
American Federation of Labor

"With a business sagacity which challenges our admiration, the leaders of the electrical industry adopt and put into force each new invention and discovery as soon as it is perfected and ready for market. And I am certain no other industry is devoting so much time, money and effort to the successful expansion of its service and production."

Do YOU recall the time, just a few years ago, when the only electrical service available was electric light—and it was a novelty?

There are sixty-eight and a half million people in the United States living in electrically wired homes; thirty million electric horse power serving American industry;
three million investors owning the companies furnishing electric power, heat and light.

The rapidity of this expansion, and the universal benefit it has conferred, have been due primarily to the courage, initiative, and prophetic vision which have inspired the operations of the country's light and power companies.

In the hands of these companies the public is assured a continuous expansion of electrical service to meet the needs of our national development.

You who have helped to build the electrical age, and who have profited from it in comfort, convenience and happiness, can safe-guard its future growth by continued support of the American principle of individual initiative.

Slayer Of Two State Troopers Awaits Sentence

Wilmot Wagner Found Guilty In First Degree For Slaying
Of Troopers

(International News Service)
BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 26.—Sentence of Wilmot Leroy Wagner, Canada farmhand, found guilty of murder in the first degree for slaying two state troopers last September, will be passed Monday.

Without the slightest change in expression the stolid defendant never ceased his rhythmic chewing of gum as the jury, after more than five hours of deliberation, brought in the sentence that will send him to the electric chair.

Defense Counsel Rogers objected to the verdict on the ground "that the evidence did not warrant it." Supreme Court Justice Charles H. Brown overruled him. During these formalities Wagner sat quietly in his chair, showing less emotion than court attendants and newspapermen, who pressed forward in order not to lose a word of the low spoken objections.

District Attorney Walter N. Renwick of Allegheny county, commenting after the verdict, declared that he felt it was a victory for right.

"I feel that transferring the case to Buffalo was a victory for the wrong side," said Renwick, "but it came out the way I believe the people of Allegheny county would like to have it."

Renwick said that he had felt from the first Wagner had committed the crime. He said that several people had repeated that after the slaying William Wagner had run down to the barn where men were threshing and cried, "My God, Wilmot has shot two troopers."

Under the rules of evidence this was not admitted.

IRISH MAID IN "POLLYANNA"

HAZEL BARRETT

Each year some newcomer in the dramatics class at the senior high school records himself or herself as "being to the manner born." Such a student finds herself at home on the stage in any part and in any group of players. This year this extremely welcome newcomer is Hazel Barrett, who will appear in "Pollyanna" next week.

Miss Barrett undertakes the part of Nancy, the Irish maid who is the clown of the performance.

The clown in "Pollyanna" has much more to do than make fun. Nancy has typically Irish wit and the play abounds in her droll repartee, but she also has a warm, understanding Irish heart. Miss Barrett is very successful in putting both humor and humanity into the role for which she has been cast.

ROME, Nov. 26.—Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state and chamberlain of the church, who is ill with grippe, had improved sufficiently this afternoon to leave his bed. He insisted upon visiting Cardinal Bonzano's bier. Earlier in the day it had been reported that Cardinal Gasparri was in serious condition.

The condition of Cardinal De Lai, who suffered a collapse from overwork and old age, was said to be unchanged.

Why Credit Is Extended

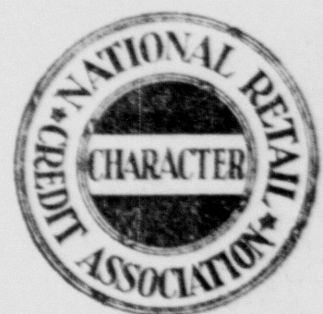

A great many people are under the impression that the Merchant who extends credit finds it necessary to do so in order to draw business.

This is a fallacy proven by the fact that our largest firms who give credit also do a large cash business. The merchant extends credit to some because he has implicit faith in their honesty and ability to pay when the bills become due. It is a superior service he extends to the person of integrity.

And because the merchant does give you this service he is justly entitled to a settlement on the due date. Isn't that only fair?

The first of the month is the recognized due date for all bills of the preceding month with privilege of payment by the tenth. It is up to you to show the merchant your appreciation for the credit he extends by paying all bills promptly.

The Way of the World

By GROVE PATTERSON

THE WORLD MOVES

Unfortunately all movement is not ahead. All change is not progress. Here are samples of one day's news. Judge for yourself how important it is:

Jack Price of Cleveland, exhibitor at the National Beauty and Barbers' Supply Dealers' convention announced that the time needed for the permanent wave has been cut down a day and a half to an hour and a half.

ANOTHER:

Hugo Heyn, Omaha business man, has purchased an airplane to carry him to Shenandoah, Iowa, where he regularly appears on radio programs from KMA. Mr. Heyn feared that winter might make the automobile roads impassable.

ONE FROM THE MIDDLE WEST

Ten Dakota City, Neb., high school students received severe acid burns on their faces and necks and some of them were probably permanently scarred as the result of hazing between classes. Now that they have been scarred they are recognized as "properly" initiated.

AND IN PHILADELPHIA

A United States senator, giving all his heart and strength to the problem of reducing the tax-load on the American public, is interrupted discourteously until he dies of a heart attack. Just a case of misunderstanding. The senator thought he was addressing a group of business men interested in hearing the basic facts of the tax situation. The crowd in the hall expected to hear much praise for local candidates in a municipal election.

THE WORLD MOVES

Down in Texas the other day a mother reminded her nine-year-old son, who is very much a real boy, that there are other things in the world besides major league baseball and professional fighting. "But mother," the boy retorted, "Gene Tunney made a million dollars in a night. Have any of your friends ever done that?"

ABE MARTIN

On Business Letters

TH' AD LADEN POSTMAN

Next t' aeronautics an' drinkin' sets, I reckon ther's been more progress in business letters an' circulars than most anything else. "I kin recall," said Uncle Niles Turner, t'day, "when I used t' be walkin' around town at night I could see storekeepers, business men, sittin' on high stools in th' back end o' ther places o' business writin' business letters by coaloil lamps with reflectors. They were orderin' more calico, or complainin' about th' last keg o' mackerel, or askin' fer hominy or tub oyster quotations, or, perhaps, orderin' a gross o' Prince Alberts coats or suspenders. An' when th' ole time merchant prince wuz in a great hurry fer oysters, or prunes, or mufflers, or plug hats, he wrote 'in haste' on th' lower left-hand corner of his letter. An' he used white ruled paper, yellor envelopes, an' purple ink, an' when he got all through with his correspondence he went home by way o' th' postoffice, where he chucked his mail. He didn't know whether he'd made eight dollars that day, or lost seven dollars an' a half. He had no way o' knowin'. He kept a sort o' puzzlin' ledger, an' a hook full o' bills an' letters, but he rarely checked up t' see where he stood, an' he didn't care so long as th' sheriff didn't close him up." All business wuz transacted by stiff, colorless letter, or postal card, an' all appeals fer patronage were made by th' crudest an' stingiest sort o' advertisin' in th' ole days. Th' art o' composin' business letters an' writin' circulars has reached a high mark. An' enough money is annually wasted in postage t' enforce prohibition an' finance a couple Atlantic flights besides. Hundreds o' millions o' compellin', convincin', ingeniously-worded, artistic, beautifully-typed, or printed letters an' circulars, find ther way t' wastebaskets ever' day, or git lost in th' shrubbery. An' 'yit it's safe t' say that a big per cent o' th' business that's done t'day is created by nifty letters an' circulars. But lots o' postage is wasted. Fer instance, Pony Mopps tells me that he lately received in one day four personal letters about a patent garage door, three circulars about some new sort o' roofin', two world cruise letters an' one descriptive folder, five new car announcements, notice of a new gold bond issue, a large package o' shirt samples, three wonderful oil opportunities, two announcements o' th' arrival o' fall woollens, an' a long letter about some new insurance scheme t' look after estates an' incomes, an' Pony hain't seen a dollar fer six months. While ther's been long strides made in composin' business letters, circulars, an' catalogues, ther's been quite a let down among letter carriers. They've not th' ole happy, erect, carefree fellows they used t' be. They're gittin' bent an' sour under ther loads o' advertisin' matter. They can't like t' climb up a hill t' a house with an armfull o' advertisements only t' have somebuddy say, "Oh, rats didn't you git me a reg'lar letter?" But if a thing's got a stamp on a letter carrier has t' deliver it, if it's only a booklet about Texas.

Giant Negro Gives Thompson Thrill

(Special To The News) NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 26.—W. A. Thompson's wish that the thief who stole his radio some time ago would come back and take the batteries off his hands was in a fair way to be granted Thursday evening at 9 o'clock when a giant negro entered and started to hunt around the place. Mr. Thompson who expected visitors did not at first suspect that a thief had entered the house but when upon looking up he found that the negro had entered the room he immediately chased him out. Andrew Sampson of the New Wililmington police force was called immediately but although he and his assistants combed the town for two hours no trace of the marauder could be found.

Small Girl Is Struck By Auto

Accident Occurs In Seventh Ward; Other Reports Of Traffic Mishaps

One little girl was struck by an automobile but escaped serious injury according to the reports of automobile accidents made to D. T. Nelson of the accident report desk at police headquarters in the past twenty-four hours.

Richards Ray, of 514 Winter avenue, reported that he was driving south on Liberty street at Wabash avenue, when little Mary Colleia, aged 3, of 105 West Wabash avenue, broke away from her mother, Mrs. Louis Colleia, and ran in front of his machine. The little girl was struck by the bumper and knocked down. Her father picked her up and she was taken to the Hyde drug store, where on examination it was found that she had apparently escaped serious injury.

Stephen C. Miles of 827 Addis St., reported that he was driving west on East Washington street between Morton and Harrison streets, when a machine pulled around another machine. There were machines parked on either side of the street at this point and this machine, the license number of which was not secured side-swiped and damaged his car. The driver proved of the "hit and run" type and drove on without making inquiry as to possible damage.

L. S. Thompson, 832 East Lutton street, reported that he was driving on East Lutton street, near DuShane street, when his machine was in a collision with that of George Ransau, R. D. No. 9, which was going south on DuShane street and making a left hand turn onto Lutton street. Some damage was done.

Ed. R. Smith of 707 Croton avenue, reported that he was driving east on East Washington street in front of the Robins Furniture store, when a lady driving an automobile bearing Pennsylvania license 985-983 came from his rear and struck and damaged his car. The lady did not stop to determine the extent of damage and was caught on South street.

Order Of Billy Goats Is Flourishing Here

When his honor, the Grand Angora of the Brotherhood of Billy Goats, finds time to stop over and inspect the local branch of the order in this city, he will find that it is one of the leading fraternal organizations of the district. In fact, it gives promise of becoming a very powerful factor in the student life here.

And it is all because that there exists among the students of the senior high school—of course this means the male portion of the student body—a growing, energetic branch of the order, lawfully organized and characterized by the real only and original Barney Google.

Heavy white canvas gloves are the visible sign of local membership and if you see some nicely dressed young man going along the street with his hands encased in such type of gloves, you will know at once that he is associated with Barney Google in making the world a more friendly place in which to live.

The local chapter of this famous organization was one of the first chartered by Barney Google and its degree team is now functioning with regularity and with an ability that is causing it to be recognized even beyond the confines of this city.

The meeting place of the organization varies with the occasion and the need. But most frequently it occurs in the home of some of the parents during the latter's absence or with their consent.

There is one such father, who tells of his experience by unexpectedly happening into his home one evening while some such an initiation was in progress.

The house was dark. That was all right. But when father stepped into that darkened house, the first thing that happened, he stumbled over some unknown and unusual obstruction. Reaching for the electric light switch to find out what was the matter, his hand was suddenly knocked down and some mysterious person said "S-sh."

He was advised then that he had stepped in on an initiation and meeting of the mysterious order of Brotherhood of Billy Goats, in which his son is a leading figure.

Aside from the fun that the boys get out of membership in this ancient and honorable organization, there is the school spirit side that is developing into one of the assets of the student organization.

Football fans who have been attending the games here during the past season have no doubt seen the Billy Goats in action in their special section of the stands. Their specialty is loyalty to the team and the use of special cheers.

Great Britain now claims all the speed records for aeroplane, submarine, steamship, railway, automobile and motorcycle.

With the recent appearance of summer weather in Australia there was a demand for electric fans to give relief from heat and insects.

How can pro-British histories corrupt Americans? English grammar seems to have little effect on them.

England has a shortage of clergy-men.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Action taken at the New Castle high school whereby the practice of flowers being publicly presented to the performers in the school theatrical events, has been done away with in the days when one play was presented annually, it was a custom that was all right. But in recent years when there have been three or four plays each year, and in some instances some of the players have received ten or a dozen bouquets, the practice was so largely overdone as to require a change.

Sale of Christmas seals for aid in the battle against tuberculosis has been started. While the sales are being made through the mails in this city it is to be hoped that the response will be large.

Santa Claus is already to be found in some of the stores of the city, where toylands are now being presented. Santa never fails to make an appeal to the tots that visit the stores. It is noted also that the throng of Christmas shoppers is already increasing steadily in New Castle stores, as the Christmastide comes nearer.

Chicken and turkey hash are off the menu today.

The Daybook OF A New Yorker

BY BURTON RASCOE

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—A quiet revolution is being effected in the advertisement of commercial products especially in New York. Instead of the direct appeal of the old advertisements, in which the superiority of the product to other products on the market, the appeal is made more subtle and the trade name of the product is fixed in the reader's consciousness by indirect means—largely through the literary and artistic quality of the advertisement.

A sales manager of a few years ago would have burst a blood vessel on observing the sort of copy that the advertising agencies are now turning out for some of their clients. A whole page will be devoted to a sketch of a popular artist with only a brief notice at the bottom referring to the article advertised. The advertising in some instances has become a species of horseplay. A cosmetic concern, for instance, recently ran a whole page of advertisement kidding the advertisement of another concern which was not even a rival. At the top of the page was a caricature of a doctor, receding in simulated horror from one of his patients, together with the caption, "Heavens, it's the Ha-Ha's." The text explained that the "Ha-Ha's" is that dread disease known by the vulgar as 'chapped skin'. The ad continued in the same vein of buffoonery and announced only by a slight line that the lotion was good for chapped hands.

Then there is the advertisement, personally written by the head of a big pharmacon concern to kid his friend the editor of a magazine, and inserted in that magazine. Not a mention of the article for sale until the last line, and then only as an afterthought. The rest is text good-naturedly denouncing the editor.

A friend reports that he recently spent a week-end in Clinton, N. J., which is within 40 miles of New York. Shortly after dinner he asked his host if he might make a phone call to the city. That gentleman apologetically explained that the phone service was cut off each night at 9 o'clock and not resumed until 7 the next morning, because the residents do not use the long distance service during the evening hours enough to pay the salary of an operator.

Foster's Weather Prognostication

A storm wave of moderate intensity is expected to cross continent during week centering on November 25 and to follow central transcontinental storm path; this storm wave will occur during a period of below normal temperatures; weather features of this period will be extreme and more than usually severe on central and northern Pacific slope, on north Atlantic slope and in vicinity of Great Lakes. Precipitation on north Atlantic slope during last half of November will decrease from the heavy amounts received in period just previous, but this decrease is expected to be only temporary. Cold wave is expected to follow storm wave centering on 25, but will not be so severe nor extreme as cold wave preceding that storm center was expected to be. Last week of November will average much better weather for outdoor activities than week of 14 to 21, as precipitation and storm force are both to be on a downward trend, but below normal temperatures are expected to be the general average for the continent during 21 to 30.

December Weather Features

In the northern hemisphere December crop weather is of comparatively little importance excepting severe extremes that occasionally kill much winter grains and semi-hardy plants and the receiving or not receiving of such moisture as may be essential to the welfare of general crop conditions for the following spring. In the southern hemisphere, however, December compares with our June and its crop weather is of greatest importance; their wheat is reaching harvest period and their corn is just getting started, being harvested in March.

In North America, December, 1927, will be expected to average close to normal temperatures and precipitation than has been experienced during November. Weather will be very changeable, but extremes not so great. Warmest period will be 1 to 6; 1 to 14 will average above normal temperatures. Coldest period will be 18 to 22; 17 to 30 will average well below normal temperatures. Precipitation will average about normal for the month for the continent; most precipitation will average about normal for the month for the continent; most precipitation will be expected during weeks centering on 6 and 20, heaviest near 20. Periods of moderately severe storms near 17 and 24; a cold, stormy Christmas with more than usual snow in snow country. Moderate storm waves centering on 10; mild storms 4. Cold wave near 22 expected to reach to Gulf. Heaviest precipitation will be expected along and just east of Atlantic coast, heavier on north than on south Atlantic coast of North America.

A total eclipse of the moon will occur on December 8, visible from northern parts of North America as earth passes between sun and moon. A partial eclipse of sun will occur December 24, but will not be visible from points in North America; this phenomenon occurs as moon passes between sun and earth. While little importance is credited to an eclipse by scientists of the present day, it is my belief that many important discoveries relative to free force and its movements will be made from observations during these phenomena. It has been established that there is a considerable difference in the strength of electro-magnetic currents during the contact of an eclipse, but few scientists will admit the possible influence this may have upon earth weather.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

New Castle, Pa.,
November 24, 1927.

Editor New Castle News

Dear Sir: Some time ago I read in The News about someone having an old newspaper. I have an old New Castle News dated Wednesday, March 7, 1888, which I found in an old log house a few miles from the city. On account of its age, the paper is hard to handle without tearing. It is much smaller in the number of pages than what it is now.

Found two more old papers in the same place as I did the copy of The News. They are a Household Companion dated June, 1888, and a copy of the Chataqua Herald of Chataqua Lake, N. Y., dated August 9, 1888.

The copy of The News has some interesting accounts. Mr. Blevins, city treasurer, reports the paying out of $1,860 to school teachers and janitors on Monday. Captain John C. Dickson of Mahoning township, who had typhoid fever, is reported a little better. Contractor Barnett has received $16,188 on his contract for the new school building, the total account of which will be $17,000.

The names of some of the men who are running for Congress are Oscar Jackson and William Brown. Thomas Mehard of Wampum is on the ticket for senator and Alex M. Phillips of Wilmington for assembly. James H. McCune for jury commissioner.

In New Castle markets the wholesale prices were: butter, 25c; eggs, 15c; potatoes, 75c; chicken, alive, 5c lb.; beef cattle, 4 1-2c; sheep, 4 1-2c; lamb, 4 3-4c; veal calves, 5 1-2c; dressed pork, 6 1-2c; hogs, live weight, 5c; wheat, 85c bushel; oats, 25c; shelled corn, 35c; corn on the ear, 40c; hay, $12 ton, and turnips, 38c bushel.

There is a question in the copy of The News: "If it takes three kegs of beer to elect a school director, how many will it take to elect a state senator?"

W. H. Witherspoon of Wampum has an ad. in the paper telling about his stoves and ranges. Fleckenstein Bros. are the sole agents for the celebrated James Means $3.00 shoes.

The News was only $1.00 a year in 1888, but it is a whole lot better paper now than then. It says in this copy of The News that Henry Kesler, a former ball player in the Iron and Oil League, was in the city Monday and will play with the Toledo, O. team next season. Kite-flying was all the go up at Volant on March 6, 1888. It says loafers were plenty in the business environs. An item from Enon Valley says that the sugar-making season bids to be very fair. From Hazel Dell it is reported that potatoes are very scarce. From Energy comes the news that there was a spelling at Hill's schoolhouse Friday night. A man was arrested at Mr. Wintemitz's store for abusing his horse. Constable Shaffer took him in hand. He was fined $4.50 and costs for being drunk and disturbing the peace.

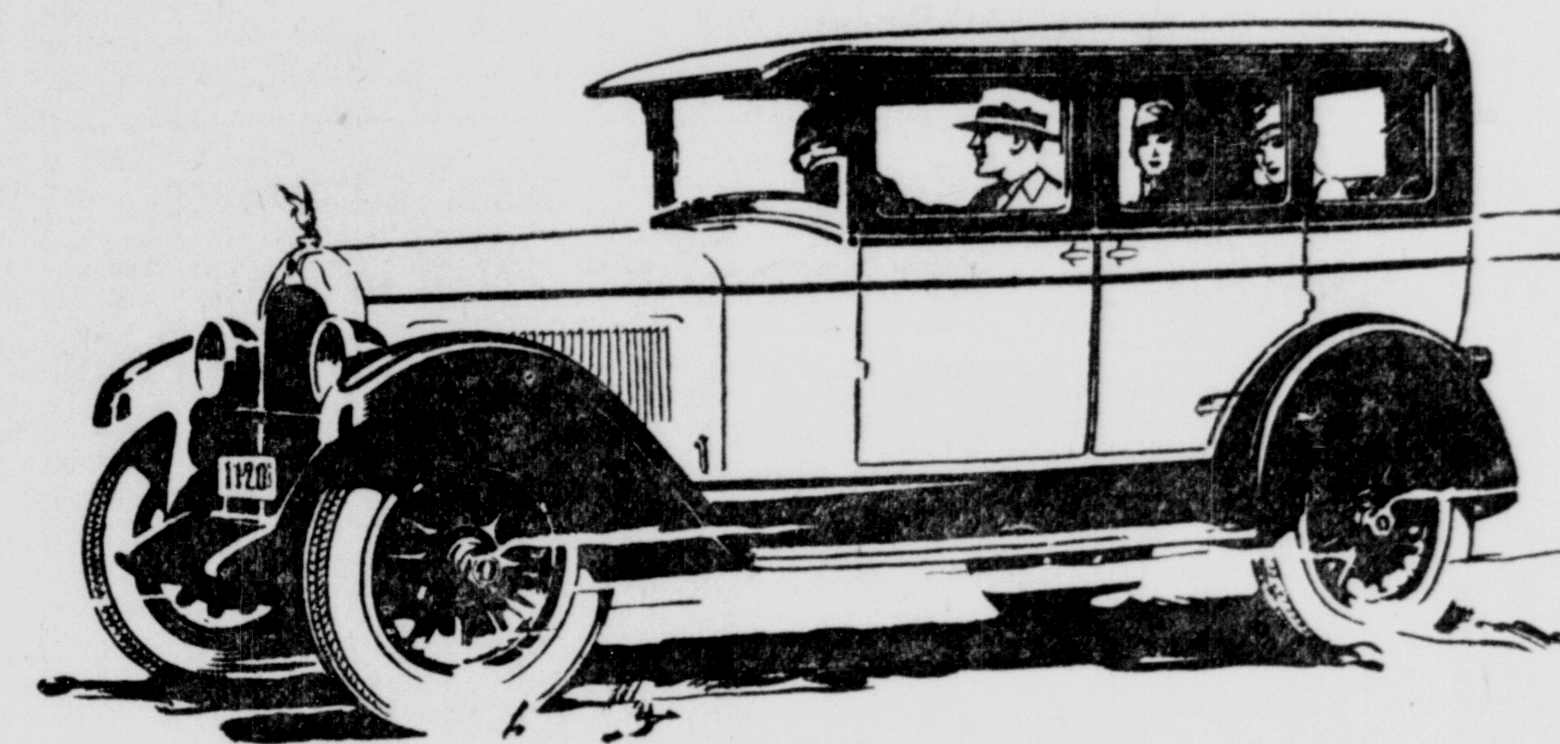

If there is anyone else who has a copy of The New Castle News as old as mine, let's hear from them. I'm going to hang onto this one I have. It's pretty old and yet it's new. So let's hear from some of the others.

First Showing Falcon-Knight Six with the famous sleeve-valve motor

FOR years the Knight sleeve-valve engine has been the motive power of Europe's finest cars—long regarded by both European and American automotive engineers as the superior type of motor.

Now modern American manufacturing methods make this fine power plant available to American motorists in the Falcon-Knight—the first Knight-engined car in the lower price range.

With a background of fifteen years of development in such fine cars as Daimler, Minerva, Panhard, Voisin, and others, the Falcon-Knight engine, designed for unusual power, flexibility, quietness and long life, sets a new high standard of motive power in the lower price, six-cylinder class.

The Falcon-Knight chassis throughout is constructed in keeping with the excellence of its power plant. Modern improvements include mechanical four-wheel brakes, seven-bearing crankshaft and oil rectifier, but these features are incidental to the importance of the Knight sleeve-valve principle.

Falcon-Knight cars in closed body types are now on display. We invite early inspection and an opportunity to arrange a demonstration.

Millers Prosecuted For Law Violations

HARRISBURG, Nov. 26.—Eight prosecutions have been carried out recently in Pennsylvania against millers and feed mixers for not properly complying with the State Law providing for the registration of feeding stuffs.

In regard to the provisions of the State Law the Bureau of Foods and Chemistry of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture are issuing the following warning:

"The feeding stuffs law requires all mixed feeds as well as bran and middlings to be registered for each year and to be labeled with guarantees for composition. Some local mixers and millers are neglecting to register their feeding stuffs, as shown by recent inspections, and it has been necessary to order prosecution during the past few weeks for sale of eight brands of these non-registered products.

"If such conflicts with the Department are to be avoided persons responsible for the sale of feeding stuffs should register all of their brands at the beginning of each year and not wait until their feeds are found being sold unregistered by representatives of the Department, who are continually supervising the sale of all brands of feeds throughout the State.

"The law is specific in its requirements and it becomes the duty to take proper action against all parties selling non-registered and improperly labeled feeds."

Among the entertainments America provides to amuse England are Western movies, jazz music and Mayor Thompson.

Old City Records Sent To Furnace

Tax assessment and police records of many, many years standing were removed from their place of storage in the second floor of the city patrol barn Friday and put into the city garbage furnace and destroyed.

There was a patrol wagon load of the various records, some of which dated back to 1871. They have been accumulating for years and were occupying valuable space that was needed for other purposes.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS BY MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINT
It is not only necessary to count your calories in your daily menus, but it is even more necessary to count the pennies. Prices are high and families need so many things that the business of serving nourishing meals for a moderate sum ceases to become a job and is a real art. Following is a day's menu that is economical as well as eatable:

BREAKFAST
Half a Grapefruit
Hot Cereal with Chopped Dates, Top Milk
Toast and Orange Marmalade
Coffee
LUNCHEON
Cheese Rarebit with Beans
Chilled Fruit
Tea
DINNER
Baked Slice of Ham and Potatoes
Spinach
Parker House Rolls
Head Lettuce and Thousand Island Dressing
Crisp Apple Scallop

Baked Ham and Potatoes—Cover the bottom of a baking dish with sliced potatoes. Sprinkle with a little flour, salt, pepper. Place on top of potatoes a fairly thick slice of ham, tick with cloves, sprinkle with brown sugar, cover with milk and bake in moderate oven one hour.

Thousand Island Dressing—A delicious and easy dressing is made by adding India relish and catsup to plain mayonnaise.

Crisp Apple Scallop—Pare, core and slice six apples. Place in a greased casserole and cover with a mixture of one-half cup water, one-fourth teaspoon cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoon nutmeg, one teaspoon lemon juice. Work together with fingertips until crumbly in consistency; one cup sugar, three-fourths cup flour, one-half cup butter. Spread over apples and bake uncovered in moderate oven for 30 minutes. Serve with whipped cream.

Miss Slocum closed the program with two selections on the piano, "The Spinning Song" by Raff and "Lento" by Scott. Later delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. Miss Slocum plans to have several affairs of this nature for her pupils which will be after the manner of informal recitals.

First White Men In The Southwest

THE FIRST WHITE MEN TO SET FOOT IN WHAT IS NOW THE SOUTHWESTERN PART OF THE UNITED STATES WERE FIVE SPANIARDS, SURVIVORS OF DE NARVAEZ'S ILL-FATED ATTEMPT TO PLANT A COLONY IN FLORIDA (1528). SHIPWRECKED ON THE COAST OF TEXAS, THEY SET OUT OVERLAND FOR THE SPANISH SETTLEMENTS IN MEXICO, FINALLY REACHING SAN MIGUEL IN 1536.

CABEZA DE VACA, ONE OF THE PARTY, TOLD OF HEARING, WHILE AMONG THE INDIANS, OF SEVEN WONDERFUL CITIES IN THE INTERIOR WHERE THERE WAS MUCH GOLD. IN 1540 FRANCISCO CORONADO, WITH A LARGE AND WELL-EQUIPPED FORCE, SET FORTH TO FIND THE FABLED CITIES OF CIBOLA.

CORONADO FOUND THE "CITIES", WHICH PROVED TO BE NOTHING MORE THAN INDIAN PUEBLOS, BUT THERE WAS NO GOLD. HE WAS TOLD THAT THE INDIANS TO THE NORTH HAD GREAT QUANTITIES OF THE PRECIOUS METAL, AND MARCHED NORTHWARD, PASSING THROUGH A REGION WHERE ALL WAS NEW AND STRANGE.

SOME OF CORONADO'S MEN DISCOVERED THE GRAND CANYON OF THE COLORADO, WHILE THEIR LEADER PRESSED ON ACROSS THE GREAT PLAINS AS FAR AS KANSAS. CORONADO NEVER FOUND THE GOLD HE SOUGHT AND, DISAPPOINTED IN HIS LONG QUEST, RETURNED TO MEXICO IN 1542.

ARMY-NAVY GRID TEAMS BATTLE TODAY

Cadets Favored To Down Middies

Expect Crowd Of 70,000 To Witness Annual Service Classic In New York

TICKETS SELL AT PREMIUM

BY DAVID J. WALSH

Sports Editor International News Service
NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—With a splash of color like a bucket of paint held upside by a sailor with a falling trouser and a pain in the neck, the annual Army and Navy football game was dropped down on top of New York this afternoon for the first time since 1925, which means the first time that the average sap had a chance to heckle the average sport writer for tickets, if any. There were none, the crowd being estimated at more than 70,000 and the seats being estimated at slightly less.

It was ever thus at an Army and Navy football game because all the admirals and second lieutenants had to be there, and naturally the public ran a bad last. There may have been tickets on the 50-yard line today, but it probably was held by a man with a glass eye and smoked glasses. That usually is the case with these preferred tickets—it being the custom for the seats in question to be occupied by a prominent bootblower, or to be held in escrow by gents in hotel lobbies until such time as the tickets are worth a net price of exactly nothing. That, anyhow, is the customary procedure for Army-Navy game seats, and I have no particular reason to believe that the present occasion will vary the procedure in the slightest.

Both Teams Deafened
Approximately 70,000 people will view the spectacle, this being the only word that is reserved annually for this occasion. It is the only word that does justice to the panorama of color presented by the marching cadets and midshipmen passing in review before Secretary of War Davis and Secretary of the Navy Wilbur. Both will represent official Washington at this game of games. Of course, there will be admirals, brigadier generals and what have you, if any, or at all, the point being that everybody who is anybody will be there.

Just what it may be all about is strictly another matter, both teams having been defeated during the regular season just coming to a close. The Navy finished second to Notre Dame and Michigan, the Army finishing second to Yale by a matter of one foot, the latter representing the difference between West Point's fourth down on Yale's goal line and the fifth down which the officials persisted in calling. In brief, the Army blew that one.

Drawing a line through the games played by the Army and Navy with Notre Dame, you could throw this game out of the window to die on the car tracks in great disorder. But unfortunately they persist in playing their football games on the day they are scheduled, and by this method mistakes can and will happen. Today, for example, the Navy can and probably will come up to this game in its topmost form. The Army, having finished a great season with a bit past its peak. Those kind of things happen, and for that reason the football handicapper is a man who makes his choices and then runs the next hundred yards in 9-3-5 seconds, all three watches agreeing.

Aerial Attack
The Navy, having all to gain and nothing to lose, is expected to go to the air without the slightest loss of time. As a tip-off as to what might be the Navy's tactical mind, it is understood that Smith, basketball center and captain, will be sent out in the open in the hope of catching a pass or two. This play plus Lloyd's runs off tackle probably will constitute the Navy's attack.

What will be the Army attack? One man's guess is as good as another's when you have a veteran line and a backfield that includes such agile performers as Cagle, Wilson and Murrell. One is a line plunger and punter, the other a passer and open field runner second to none, and the third a ball runner who has been a standout man in eastern football these many years.

Decided on its paper merits, there can be no reason to believe that a team such as the Army can lose this game. However, paper profits mean nothing in this case. For reasons best known to itself, no Navy team can lose to the Army without making a fight such as no other team ever has made.

West Point has contrived to gain the lead in victories in this series by a matter of 14 to 12, but this is merely a matter of circumstance. It is merely a matter of circumstances that the middies had not won a game since 1921. Previous to that point they had won three straight and really thought they were good. Maybe they were, but the point is that success is fleeting, particularly in a series where one team never is much better than the other, regardless of their pre-game records.

It is the closest series in modern football, and deservedly so.

Chicago Agog As Grid Teams Get Ready For Battle

Southern California-Notre Dame Game Headlines In Mid-West Today

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—One hundred thousand privileged citizens of Chicago and eleven thousand visitors, more or less, were marking time today waiting for the big parade to Soldiers Field where at 2 o'clock this afternoon Notre Dame's famous gridiron warriors clash with the Trojans of the University of Southern California in the final football classic of the season.

The whole town is football mad. Speculation on the outcome of the game is the principal topic of conversation. The downtown district is a veritable campus, excited groups fill hotel lobbies and street corners. All public buildings, stores and offices are ablaze with the colors of the two schools.

Mayor William Hale Thompson issued a proclamation to the citizenry calling attention to the fact that Chicago is host to one of the greatest football games ever staged and asking that the town arise to the occasion.

Pitt Officials Accept Bid To Play Stanford

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 26.—The last vestige of doubt has been erased concerning the participation of Pitt in the annual Tournament of Roses football classic at Pasadena, California, on New Year's Day. The Panthers will meet Leland Stanford. Pitt authorities received the invitation formally yesterday afternoon and within a few hours the athletic council met and accepted it.

Overlands To Have Meeting

The Rick-Overland basketball team will hold an important meeting at the Y. M. C. A. on Sunday afternoon it was announced today.
The Overlands opened their season on Thursday night at the "Y" court by defeating the Erie "Tenth" team 30 to 13.

Pitt Panthers Stand Out Prominently In Eastern Grid World

Upset Of Penn State Thursday Gives Panther Eleven High Rating

Looking Forward To Tournament Of Roses Play At Pasadena, California

By REGIS CURRAN

International News Service Staff Correspondent
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 26.—Astride the top rung of the eastern football ladder today is the University of Pittsburgh, which got that way when its Panther pawed all over that central Pennsylvania animal, the Penn State Lion, 30 scratches for Pitt and none for State.

Of the so-called "big" teams in the East, Pitt seems to be the one which should be placed first, for all of the Panther's one-time nearest competitors for mythical eastern titular honors were not so near today following the fate of pluckin games presented on Thanksgiving day.

To begin with, Washington-Jefferson was the goat in the most startling upset of the day and possibly of the entire season, when the West Virginia eleven held the Presidents to a 6-6 tie.
Another pleasant occurrence of the day was the 21-18 defeat of New York University by Nebraska. There surely can be no dissenting voice when it is said this defeat effectually stifles the N. Y. U. clamor for high honors.

Yale, for whose title cause many eastern experts did hold brief, seems also to present a claim inferior to that of Pitt. After witnessing or hearing about Penn State's debacle before Pitt it is firmly believed the honorable writers will break boldly into print with an acquiescence or something concerning Pittsburgh claims.

Yale's only defeat was by a southern team, Georgia, which still is traveling a rapid gait. Thursday they defeated Alabama, 20-6. Thus far Georgia is undefeated or untied and is making a very strong case for national honors.

In regard to Wash-Jeff, it has been said that they secured about 19 first downs to the Mountaineers' three, but the West Virginia supporters rapidly and with some heat claim that their downs were registered at strategic and necessary moments, while most of W. & J.'s first downs were affairs of midfield.

However, the most important thing about the Wash-Jeff-West Virginia what-you-may-call-it is that it effectually removed the Presidents from using their vocal chords in shouts of title claims.

The particular something to which fans in this section now are looking forward to is the Panther-Leland Stanford engagement on New Year's day at Pasadena, California, during the tournament of roses.

Four Important Grid Contests On Card Today

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Only four important games are listed on the closing gridiron card of the season today.

The Army is favored to beat the Navy in their annual classic here; Southern California rules a slight choice over Notre Dame; and the Oregon Aggies figure at a decided advantage over Carnegie Tech. Holy Cross and Boston College, traditional New England rivals, are about evenly matched.

Eddie Anxious To Get Started

Eddie Weygant, former featherweight, now associated with Billy Jolley is hoping soon to get started as promoter of the boxing shows to be staged in the old Armory, Neshannock avenue. At the present time Weygant is manager of several fighters, among them Mickey Solomon, the lightweight, Rocky Marshall, the middleweight and others. Weygant recently received an offer to send Solomon against Freddy Fitzgerald at Youngstown.

However, Fitzgerald wanted the New Castle boxer to make weight. "Mickey" is growing. It would be wrong to ask him to make weight. Therefore the offer was refused," said Weygant.

Weygant spent several years in the ring and milled with some of the best featherweights in the country. He does not propose to hurry Solomon, who is his brightest prospect, along the pugilistic highway. Solomon has turned in several impressive victories despite his brief ring career and fans here look upon him as being one of the brightest prospects who has started in this city.

PROOF THAT RULES OF SPORT MEAN SOMETHING

In recent weeks, a famous baseball pitcher, a world's champion fighter, and one of the outstanding football players of the season have felt the sting of the law of sport. Johnny Morrison, former Pittsburgh Pirate star, was placed on the ineligible list because he left his club in mid-season. Joe Dundee, welterweight champ, was suspended on the Pacific coast because he failed to show for a fight with Ace Hudkins. Bruce Caldwell, Yale's star halfback, was barred in mid-season because it was discovered he had played freshman football at Brown. Caldwell, honest and clean player, knew nothing of this rule, but—sport laws are sport laws. They must be obeyed.

Westminster Prepares For Basketball Season

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Nov. 26.—While Coach John Lawther of the Westminster basketball team will have a large number of men available for the team this year who saw service last year, the outlook in New Wilmington is not so favorable as it was at the conclusion of last year's campaign, when the United Presbyterians finished second in the Tri-State Conference.

The graduation of Hugh Gamble, calm and lanky center, has presented a problem to Coach Lawther. Gamble was never outplayed by rival centers during the entire season last year, while the men who are being groomed to take his place have not shown anything like his form in the early practice sessions.

So far as height goes, Lawther has plenty of tall timber. Connor, Crowell, Stewart and Hutchison from last year's squad, and Fisher, Witherpoon, Holzapfel and Armour of the freshman class, are all over six feet. Even the so-called "shorter" members of the squad are tall as compared with former Westminster teams.

Whether or not this height will offset a noticeable awkwardness on the floor remains to be seen. At all events, if Westminster can win half of the games with the hard 17-game schedule before her it will be a successful season.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.
ROAMING AT LARGE, Nov. 26.—This section of the country, like every other, is passing from football into the winter sports—basketball, bowling, etc.—these days. But it's hard to hit a town hereabouts that doesn't bring you back to baseball.

If a poll were taken, the chances are that Texas would run well in the lead as the birthplace of major league stars. The present major league lists indicate that.

Just look over a part of the list: Bib Falk, White Sox outfielder, whose home is in Austin. Sammy Hale of the Athletics, who was born in Glenrose.

Rogers Hornsby, who was born in Winters, Tex. Emory Rigney, who threatened once to become the game's greatest shortstop, and who hails from Grove-ton.

Tris Speaker, born in Hubbard, Tex., and whom Doc Roberts, president of the Texas league, had to liberally force onto the Red Sox to get him his chance.

Curtis Walker, Cincinnati Red outfielder, born in Beville. The Blankenship boys, Ted, Homer and Cliff, hailing from Bonham, have all had their whirl in the big leagues for longer or shorter periods.

"Rip" Collins, who labored to break through the crust with the Yanks, Red Sox and Tigers, a native of Weatherford.

Then there's Pete Donohue, Cincinnati pitcher, who's proud of his home town of Athens.

And Sammy Gray, who was headed for stardom in the big time until a tragedy in his private life checked his rise, was born in Van Alstine.

Slim Harris, who might have been one of the great pitchers of the game, had he had more confidence in himself, is a Brownwood boy.

And Fred Marberry, famous pitcher of the Washington Senators, is a Lone Star native.

Lil Stoner, born in Bowie, had high hopes of writing his name in to Detroit from the Ft. Worth club.

Most of these men got their start in the Texas and other lesser leagues in that section of the country.

Some, like Bib Falk and Donohue, jumped to the majors from the college campus.

Ross Young, one of the most popular players the game has known, and who died after a valiant fight against Bright's disease, was a Texas lad, too. Born in Shiner.

Failure of Byron Eby, Ohio State backfield star, to draw serious consideration for a place on a published mythical all-star eleven of the Big Ten, points out again how players can blush unnoticed when playing with mediocre teams. Eby, to my mind, is one of the most brilliant backfield men in mid-western football today. Given a brainy, capable team to work with, I am confident that the young Ohio Stater would have broken into the limelight with

MILD WINTER IS HIS PREDICTION

GLoucester, N. J., Nov. 26.—Gloucester's "own" weather prophet, John Walmsley, believes it will be an uncommonly mild winter.

There are two outstanding signs upon which Walmsley, whose predictions are taken very seriously here, bases his forecast. One is that all the hornets' nests he has seen are low, showing that the hornets know the weather will be mild with little snow, and the jumping of frogs from streams to the banks, which he says never happens in advance of cold weather, is the other.

To prove that he really believes in his own prophecies, Walmsley says he does not intend to grow a beard this winter. He wore a long one last year.

'B' Schools Should Send In Floor News

Football is through for another year and with the deflation of the football tube comes King Basketball raring around the corner. Class B schools will be represented by able quints this season. Athletic authorities of the 'B' schools should send their basketball news to Sports Editor, New Castle News as prospects point to a scintillating race for the championship.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

By ED. FRITZ

After several years of battling in the "tanks," Johnny Risko has found his place among the bigger bulbs of fistiana, having defeated Paulino Uzcudun in a furious 10-round bout at New York last night. At the end of the slugging match the Spaniard was groggy and reeling around the ring.

In each of the 10 rounds Risko chose to stand head-to-head and toe-to-toe to meet the woodchopper at his own game, and every time the Spaniard let his punches go for the body the Cleveland unleashed lefts and rights for the head, and the 15-000 fans who saw the bout were thrilled by the fighters.

Emmett Rocco, the Ellwood City heavyweight, who believes he can whip Risko, is parading in Cleveland today. He went there last night so he could put in three days' work at the gymnasium of Jimmie Dunn, preparatory to fighting Jack McAuliffe, Detroit, Tuesday night at Youngstown.

This boy, Rocco, is not getting enough work, and the more he does receive, the better he will become. It is true, a fast, big, clever fellow may outpoint him, but he will go over big when pitted against someone who will stand up, like Risko did with Paulino, and give him a chance to punch.

Mickey Walker, world's middleweight champion, failed to knock out Paul Berlenbach, but gave the New York light-heavyweight a rather fancy lacing in 10 savage rounds. He floored "Berly" with a terrific left hook to the chin.

Walker started to give a rather good impression when the bout started, and slugged the New Yorker so viciously that Paul was slowed up before the first round was over. He continued to force the fight as it progressed and his left hook took much of the starch out of "Oom Paul."

There is considerable going on around the city as to whether Jimmie Dime's middleweight, Joe Midway, is a better fighter than Rocky Marshall, the colored fighter who romps under the colors of Eddie Weygant, and it may be that the discussion may end in the pair being matched.

Midway fought Frankie Nottingham at Centennial field and showed that while he carried a deadly right hand, he was prone to let it idle when a quick, accurate shot would have flattened Nottingham. Nottingham kept Midway off balance with his left hand during the bout. Marshall is a veteran and like Midway, is a hard puncher.

Ask Recount Of Sharpville Vote

Second Ward Citizens Petition Mercer County Court For Recount Of Recent Vote

(Special To The News)
MERCER, Pa., Nov. 26.—A petition signed by 25 voters of the second ward of Sharpville was received by the Mercer county court, Judge J. A. McLaughry, this morning, asking for a recount of the vote cast at the recent election in that ward.

In the petition a number of technical errors are cited, including the charge that members of the board left the room while the ballots were being counted, and the belief that a recount may change the result of the election as at present announced.

The court instructed Sheriff W. A. Bone to take charge of the ballot boxes from this ward and bring them in for a recount on December 19.

When 200 English boys recently sailed to make their home in Australia, they were wished Godspeed by Lady Blade, Lady Mayoress of London.

SORRY, OLD MAN! I DIDN'T MEAN TO HURT YOU. WHEN 134-POUND CROWTHER, OF BROWN, HURT THE BIG YALE GUARD.

Copyright, 1927 by Metropolitan Newspaper Service

There have been good little men in sports ever since David bounced a petrified Goliath of Goliath's noble brow back in the days before the Old Testament was current literature.

The saying "A good big man can always beat a good little man" not always holds good—witness the triumphs in the past of small giants like Billy Johnston, Cyril Walker, Dick Kerr, Wee Willie Keeler and many others. Size doesn't always count, and very often a little, sawed-off runt who makes up in pep and spirit what he lacks in brawn can wreck a man nearly twice his size.

In football there have been many "good little men," and out on the Pacific the last two seasons one "Butch" Meeker, as quarterback of the Washington State Cougars, by his dynamic playing and aggressive spirit, has proved himself, in spite of his diminutive stature, one of the best football men in the Pacific Coast conference as well as the coast's best field general. Such a man was Johnny McGovern, probably the greatest player that ever went to Minnesota, where many splendid athletes have trod the barred arena since Doc Williams first won fame as a coach with his name, and with his "Giants of the North." This "little giant" was a splendid field general, a marvel at executing the quarterback sneak, a sure catcher of punts and a fast, clever open-field runner.

"Big Bill" Edwards tells an amusing story about a famous little player in his interesting book, "Football Days." He weighed only 134 pounds, but gave everything he had in spite of his size. Crowther was his name, and he followed Sprackling as all-American quarterback at Brown. In the Harvard game, Percy Haughton sent word over to Robinson, the Brown coach, that he ought to take the little fellow out, as he was too small to play football, and might be seriously injured. After a 70-yard run to a touchdown, Crowther asked his coach to send word over to Haughton to "ask him how he liked that, and if he thought he ought to quit now!"

In the Yale game, Crowther was tackled several times by Pendleton, a guard who weighed well over 200 pounds, and it so happened that the

Pittsburgh Man Shot To Death In Bootleg Feud

Two Companions Suffer Bullet Wounds As Trio Is Fired Upon From Auto

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 26.—Another victim was added to the list of more than 20 killed in the Pittsburgh hill district bootleg war with the death of James Muitta in a hospital early today.

Muitta was shot down while standing talking to two other men, Tony Rastini and Joseph Grelo, both of whom were taken to the hospital suffering from bullet wounds.

A fourth man was said to have lurked the trio to the sidewalk and engaged them in conversation while an automobile drove up to the curb. A hail of bullets was fired from the car and the three men were rushed to a hospital. The fourth man escaped in the machine.

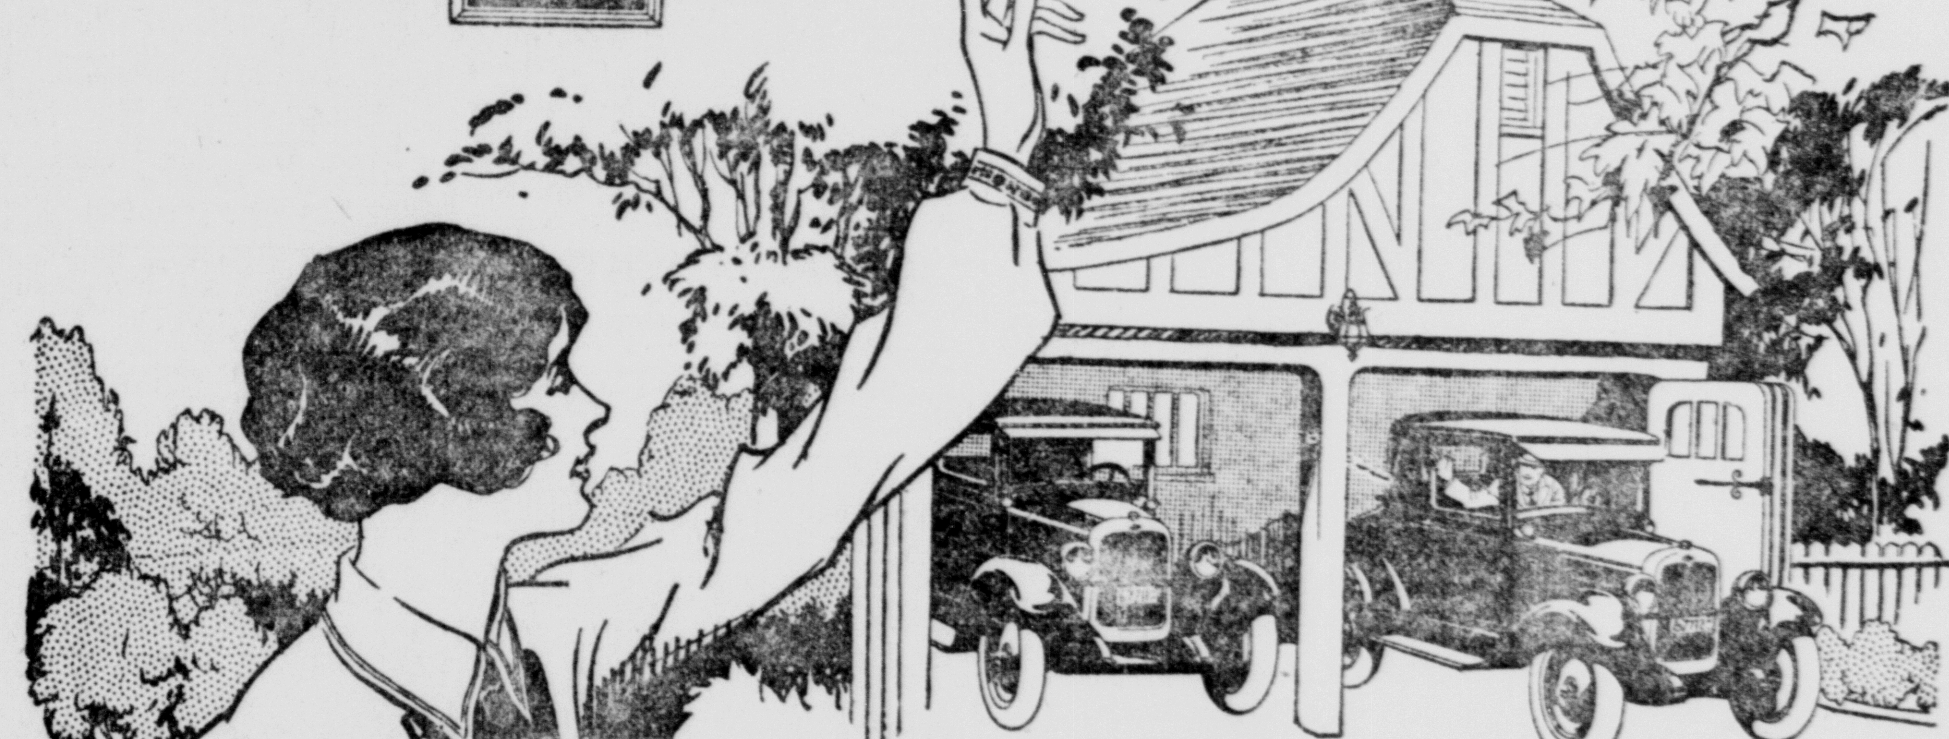

Police rushing to the scene were believed to have wounded one of the gang of killers.

N. Y. STOCKS

By W. S. COUSINS

International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Friday's closing of the stock market was the lowest since the 1920-21 season, when the market was hit by a sharp decline in the prices of representative stocks.

The $200,000,000 merger of the Republic and Trumbull Steel companies was in acquisition of a large block of Republic

stock by the Cyrus Eaton interests of Cleveland. Republic Steel stock and already discounted the merger and this stock inactive and featureless today. Market numerous connected the Youngstown Sheet and

Tube company with the consolidation, despite official statements to the contrary.

Striking up of the steel and copper markets stimulated further buying of stocks of the important companies. U. S. Steel pushed ahead to 147, American Smelting and Refining led the copper group with a 3-point rise to 176, and Anaconda, Kennecott, Inspiration, and Chile Copper sold fractionally higher. Greene Cananea carried its specular advance to 82½, where it showed a gain of 7½ points since Friday noon.

The time and rubber stocks were active and showed a general upward movement.

After the turn of the year, when car manufacturers will operate on full scale, the

United States Rubber, Pisk and Kelly

Stocks were the leaders in this movement.

Old Army Gun Kills First Bear

KANE, Pa., Nov. 26.—Musketry of the ancient is still very useful which was proven on the first day of the bear hunting season that opened last week. William Sellers of Wilcox brought down the first bear to be killed in Elk county on last Wednesday at 9:15 a. m., with an old army muzzle loader that was manufactured in 1860 by the Remington Arms company. The gun was used in the army service in the war of the Rebellion by Dr. James Wells of Wilcox, one of the pioneer residents of Elk county.

These days they promise to love, humor and obey their impulses.

CHARLIE PADDOCK

POLICEMAN BOB McALLISTER

APOLDS THE RECORD FOR THE 100-METER AND THE 150-YARD DISTANCES

Charlie Paddock is out for revenge and he is going to Gotham to get it. The fleet-footed California star who still holds the world's record for the 220-yard dash hasn't been in New York since 1920 when he was easily beaten at the old Madison Square Garden.

Ever since, in the bosom of Paddock, that defeat has rankled.

It now looks as though Charlie may try this winter to wipe out the ignominy of his beating of seven years ago and to convince the haughty east that the coast has faster men.

Paddock was quoted at the National A. A. U. games at Lincoln, Neb., last July to the effect that he would like to wipe out Policeman Bob McAllister's records for the 100-meter and the 150-yard distances.

Paddock once thought he held those records himself. And since he has learned that the Flying Cop owns them he has wanted to set new ones.

Now a match between Paddock and McAllister is being spoken of. If ever such an event is held (and it appears extremely likely) it should be a hum-dinger.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF NEW YORK MARKET

By W. S. COUSINS

I. N. S. Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—In a series of broad and active sessions on the

New York stock exchange this week,

the motor stocks and specialties advanced to the highest prices of the year, while the speculative leaders in the railroad and industrial stocks marked time or moved through narrow price ranges.

In many respects it was a week of "markets without a reason." In the face of moderate contraction in important departments of trade and inquiry the speculative pools issued their favorites forward confidently and were established in active trading on Monday and Wednesday's turnover of 688 different industrial, specialty, railroad and utility stocks exceeded all previous records in stock market history. Trading on that day, a preholiday session fell only 50,000 shares short of 3,000,000 shares.

The shift of the speculative interest into low priced motor stocks was generally attributed to "buying for control" by powerful financial and automobile interests with a view to forming a new combination, through merger of the Hupp Motor Company, the

Dodge Company, Jordan, Durant and possibly Packard and Pierce Arrow.

Because of the failure of the market leaders to continue their brilliant forward movement, the opinion was freely expressed that the pools and professionals were taking profits. Under cover of strength in other sections of the market.

Though the steel mills announced a moderate increase in mill operations,

steel trade authorities reported output steadily holding at the October rate.

An increase in a dollar a ton in bars, hapes and plates was hailed as the indication of the stiffening of the steel market but important consumers reported that their immediate requirements had been met prior to the adoption of the new price scale. Copper producers won a further advan-

Grangers Conclude Annual Convention

Important Sessions Mark Closing Day of 61st Annual Convention

Adopt Many Resolutions Regarding National Welfare

(International News Service)
CLEVELAND, Nov. 26.—Completing what is believed by observers to have been one of the most important sessions late Friday, delegates and members of the National Grange were leaving Cleveland today after 10 days of ritualistic and business conferences of the 61st annual convention.

The principal acts of the convention were the adoption of the export certificate plan for farm relief, the endorsement of debt retirement in place of tax reduction, increased appropriations for fundamental farm research, the leasing of Muscle Shoals to a responsible fertilizer manufacturer, the continuance of the American merchant marine and higher tariff on corn and wool.

Adopt Resolutions
Last-minute resolutions adopted included those embodied in the committee on agriculture's report as submitted by Jesse Newsom of Indiana, chairman. They were:
Increase tariff on corn and wool and a request to Congress to increase the appropriation for fundamental farm research in the place of the small sum now given for emergency investigations. The resolution on wool points out that more than a million pounds of wool was imported to the United States during the five years from 1922 to 1926, inclusive, and that, had the sheep industry been given protection, America could have produced the greater portion of the amount.

Resolutions of E. A. Ecker's legislative committee adopted the proposal to have the government lease Muscle Shoals for fertilizer manufacture to the responsible party making the best bid and to approve any measure acceptable to public interests with the provision that Muscle Shoals be kept in readiness to become a munitions plant in case of war; that instead of tax reductions the surplus be used to retire the national debt, but if there is to be a tax cut, the Grange favors the repeal of wartime taxes on autos, as the Grange is against permanent imposition of "sales taxes"; favors another appropriation for control of corn borer, and pledged its support to the primary system of nominating candidates for public office.

The transportation committee reporting through its chairman, A. Enns, of Maryland, had the following adopted:
Better co-operation between states in working out uniform traffic regulations and commending the American Automobile Association along this line; favoring state regulation of motor buses in place of federal; favoring the continuation of ownership and operation of American merchant marine by the government through the agency of the U. S. shipping board in trans-oceanic trade where private enterprises cannot compete, and recommend appropriations by Congress to keep the merchant marine modern and efficient.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

This is no colyum of etiquette. The renowned Emily Post, whose word is the last on what to do and how to do it socially, has no part of this colyum, nor is there any attempt made to say what the well dressed young will wear this fall or next spring.

But though it be foreign to this colyum to attempt to set down the mandates of good form, yet mention is going to be made here and now of a practice which seems to be gaining in popularity among some of the fair young things of the city.

It is the practice of gum chewing in public places. After all these years of admonition by matronly ladies against the rather unlovely practice it did seem as though it had passed out along with antimacassars, pompadours, and side saddles.

But it hasn't. During one of the public events of the Thanksgiving season, the waverancy of gum chewing by girls of the plastic age drew the attention of a number of older people and it now looks as though all the education of the years has to be gone through again.

One can stand for the powdering of noses, of combing hair, and even the adjusting of recalcitrant garters, but gum chewing in public places is one too many.

Most of the members of the Friday Feeders apparently thought yesterday was Monday, for but five of them showed up at The Castleton. Jim Cope, Jess Gibson, Doc Parlette, Bill Nunn and H. L. Gordon have all promised to be in on the affair but thus far have not shown up.

While most of us devoted Thanksgiving day to eating and little things of that sort, at least one good woman of the city had other people in mind. Up in the county jail, Mrs. Jennie Forquer conducted services and handed out a little treat of doughnuts to those who were unfortunate enough to be there.

You seldom hear of those jail services, and yet when all the good deeds of the world are set down on the ledger, I wonder if they won't get a rather prominent place. People go to jail because they have violated some of the laws of the state, but they are still mighty human folks after all.

and while they should be expected to expiate their crime, such work as Mrs. Forquer does in the way of services comes back in better citizenship.

This is one day when the Legion Home is divided against itself. From two o'clock this afternoon until far into the night there will be a verbal battle raging, and this regardless of how the Army-Navy game terminates. The Navy isn't represented so strongly, Earl Toler, Abe Levine, Dave Bollard, Bob Armstrong and one or two others are all the defenders the gobs have, while the Army is upheld by practically all the rest of the outfit.

And if the Navy should happen to win, that place won't be fit to sit around in for a month.

When the Pitt football team accepted that invitation to go to the coast for the Tournament of Roses game, two New Castle lads got a trip they will remember as long as they live. Alec Fox, first strong guard and Zip Sargeant, end, will accompany the team, and the long season of punishment will be repaid by a trip that would cost them several hundred dollars if they were paying for it.

Delay Granting Of Auto Bus Privilege

Operation of auto busses by the P.-O. Coach Lines company in Grant and Sampson streets has not yet been started.

According to Superintendent C. C. Coulthard operation depends upon the grant of a permit by the Public Service Commission.

It is probable the grant would be made were the city to notify the commission that the city is favorable to the bus plans.

Unless the city so notifies the commission there is a probability that the permit will be further delayed, Coulthard declares.

Annual Thanksgiving Dance Is Held In Ketter Gymnasium In Cabaret Style

GROVE CITY, Pa., Nov. 26.—Nearly 400 students and alumni of Grove City College attended the Thanksgiving dance in Ketter gymnasium last evening, which was held under the direction of the student council.

The gymnasium was decorated to represent a cabaret ballroom and the whole evening's program resembled a night in a cabaret, with a chorus girls' dance during the intermission and refreshments served at little side tables.

The chaperones and guests of honor at the event included Mrs. Lois Cory-Thompson, Professor and Mrs. Fundenberg, Dr. and Mrs. Kelly. The committee from the student council who were responsible for the success of the cabaret dance last evening included the following students: Winifred Walter, general chairman; Ruth Daubenspeck and Marcus Rankin, decorating committee; Bob Plugg, orchestra committee; Helen Holstein, refreshments, and John McDowell, publicity. The music was furnished by Ted Rosenberg and his Grove City Collegians.

Grove City College Lifts Frosh Rules

Boys No Longer Have To Wear Dinks Nor Girls Black Cotton Hose

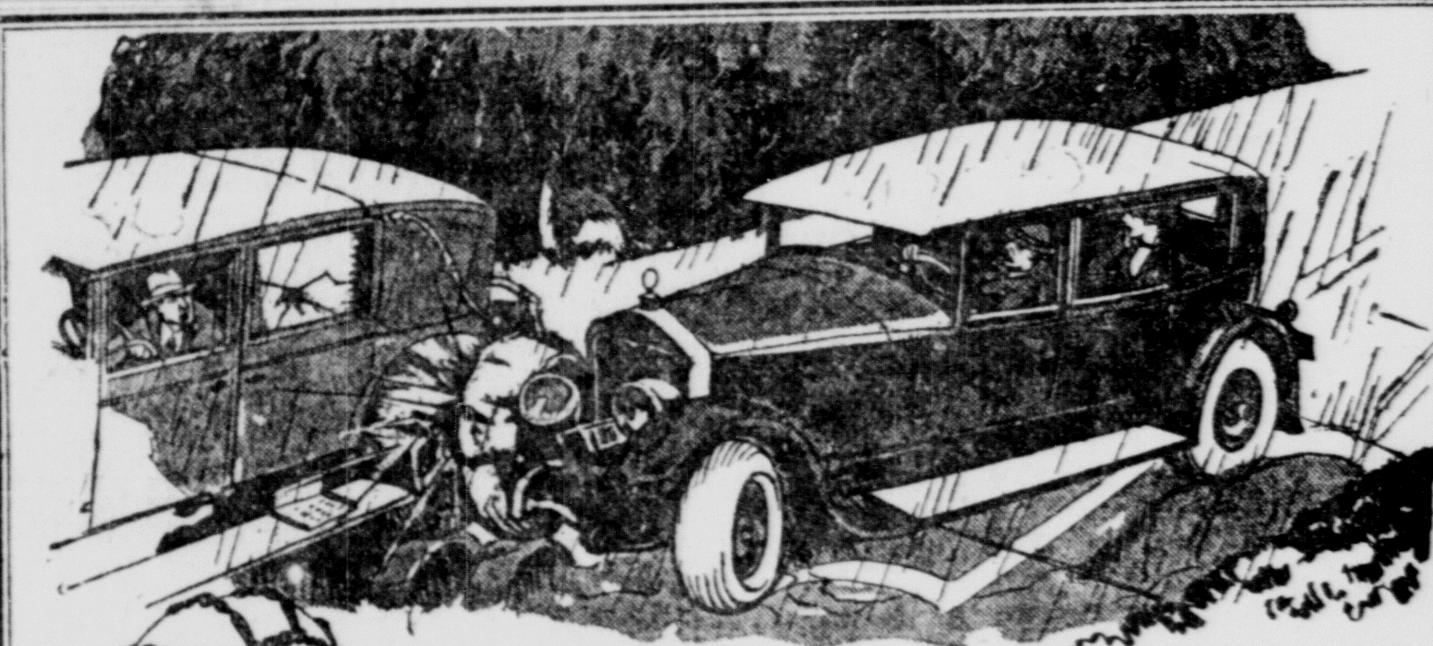

GROVE CITY, Pa., Nov. 26.—Freshman rules, under which the freshmen of Grove City College have been placed by the student council since the opening of the first semester, were lifted yesterday, according to the announcement of Ted Rosenberg, president of the council.

The rules, which were backed by the student council and enforced by them, required that all freshman boys wear "dinks", obey the upper classmen and be out at night no later than nine o'clock, and that the freshman girls wear armbands and black cotton hose.

The rules were obeyed by the majority of the freshmen and all now have the privileges of upper classmen except a few who are on the "ineligible list", due to the breaking of rules.
